Chad "Nat" Waldron

October 9, 1970 ~ May 24, 2024

Chad "Nat" Waldron (53) of Silver Lake, Oregon, passed away on May 24th, 2024 after a brief but brutal battle with cancer, surrounded by the family he loved.

Chad was born on October 9th, 1970 to LaMonte Waldron and Julie (Williams) Waldron of Weston, Idaho. He is survived by his parents and seven siblings, his wife of 30 years Janet (Barlow) Waldron, daughter Raven (Waldron) Cauldron, and sons Wyatt Waldron and Levi Waldron.

In 2002, Chad received his Master of Teaching Degree from Oregon State University and continued to be an avid Beavers fan throughout his life, a trait he was well-known for in the community. He began and finished his career at North Lake School, and came into their fledgling science and FFA program only three years after the school was opened. Over the years, he proceeded to build a program that was the pride and heart of the North Lake communities.

Professionally, Chad was a dedicated teacher and mentor who was taken from us too soon. Though he often presented a gruff exterior, students quickly figured out that he genuinely cared about their lives, struggles, and what they wanted to accomplish in life. He pushed his students to work hard, take responsibility for themselves, and to learn from mistakes rather than dwell on them. He took every opportunity to travel with students around the country to various FFA events, and he looked forward to the trips as much as the students did. He always believed in the importance of these trips to expose students to different walks of life and expand their horizons, and he often spoke of the lessons he learned from them along the way. He led his students to many accomplishments and awards through FFA, but he always said that for him, it was never about the banners. For Chad, it was always about igniting a passion for agriculture and leadership in young people.

Chad not only served as a mentor to students, but also to his fellow teachers and school staff. He was well known for his legendary Thursday night "HQT (Highly Qualified Teachers) Club" exploits. He began this tradition to give new teachers a way to connect with each other and unwind after each week at school. He provided a space to build community, where many North Lake "transplants" learned to love and adjust to the quirks of rural living.

In addition to being a role model at school, Chad was a devoted father who loved to speak about his children's talents and accomplishments. He often found the most peace sitting around a fire pit telling stories with his wife and kids. His beautiful yard that he meticulously cared for is a desert oasis that his children love to return to as adults. After 29 years of teaching, he had planned to pass the mantle, retire, and travel with his wife in a year's time.

Though he stood at just 5'4", he was a giant in the eyes of all who knew him. His spirit and memory live on through the impact he had on every person who had the fortune to cross his path in life.

Funeral services will be held at North Lake School on June 8th, 2024 at 11 AM. In remembrance of his life and dedication to his students, the family asks that any charitable donations be made to the North Lake FFA program.

This is a reprint of a Desert Whispers article written by Karen Morgan for the September 15th, 2020 edition.

Our sincere condolences go out to the Waldron family and to all those who had their lives touched by Mr. Waldron.

What Does the Future Hold for Agriculture?

If you were to ask this question of Chad Waldron, the North Lake High School Agriculture Science and Technology director, he would say that the future looks bright, if his program and his students are any indication.

As a team the North Lake FFA has won or placed in the State Soils CDE over a dozen times, and has competed at the National FFA Soils CDE in Oklahoma City three times; earning top 20 team honors twice.

North Lake FFA has placed 1st in the District soils for 15 years, and placed 1st or 2nd in Shop Skills the last 20 years. They also have several banners representing top honors in Tractor Driving, Crops and Parliamentary Procedures.

Representatives of North Lake FFA have attended the National Convention in Kansas City, Louisville and Indianapolis six times; the Washington Leadership Conference in Washington D.C.

seven times and the National Soils CDE in Oklahoma City three times.

Mr. Waldron and his four brothers grew up on a dairy farm in Idaho. While attending West Side High School, which sits at the base of the Rattle Snake Mountain in Weston, Idaho, he was very active in FFA achieving many individual student awards and achievements including, State and American degrees and Public Speaking awards. He participated in Livestock Judging, Parliamentary procedures, Crops and Ag Mechanics. He also played football, wrestled, and was a member of the high school drama club.

Mr. Waldron's most cherished memories of his FFA experience are the Idaho CDE days in Moscow, Idaho that took place in the summer months. It was an eight day trip. On one occasion, they took 2nd in Livestock Judging and spent two days floating the Coeur d'Alene River with friends and their advisor, Mr. Summers. Mr. Summers recently retired after teaching for 43 years at West Side High School. He received National recognition and several awards for teaching. Mr. Waldron credits Mr. Summers for much of his own teaching style and philosophy. He was truly a great mentor and teacher.

After high school, Mr. Waldron attended Utah State University where he was part of the Collegiate Livestock Judging team.

He graduated from Utah State University with a Bachelors of Science in Agricultural Education, and later attended Oregon State University where he graduated with a Masters in Education.

His career in teaching began at North Lake High School in 1995. He says that he has stayed here because the community has treated he and his family so well since the first day, and Recently Mr. Chad Waldron, North Lakes own FFA, AG, and shop teacher was diagnosed with and subsequently lost his battle with Cancer. We are rallying the community behind his family for a fundraising weekend. Chad has been a part of this community for the last 30 years, becoming not only one of the long-time favorite teachers, but most importantly one of the most respected. He has donated countless hours to the kids' of this community, and it's time we show his family our appreciation and support.

due to the community's support and insistence on having a quality, well funded, Ag Science and FFA program.

Mr. Waldron says, "The philosophy that I have developed within the North Lake Ag. program is the more shop, projects and hands-on education, and the less classroom seat time and paperwork the better. This emphasis and focus of education and activities during class time and throughout the day shows in our FFA achievements. We do well in those kind of contests and career development events."

This 2020-2021 school year High School Senior, Justin Sharp, has been elected as the North Lake FFA President. Justin says his main focus is CDE- Career Development. He enjoys the Leadership events and looks to be a delegate at the District or State level. Justin has been in the North Lake FFA program for four years. He plans to attend college after graduating high school, and will perhaps pursue a degree in Ag Communications.

Recently, in an interview with the Lake View Examiner North Lake High School graduate, Jillian Rudolph, credited her involvement with the North Lake FFA program for giving her the confidence to apply for and obtain a college scholarship, and to choose an ag path. She is attending OSU pursuing a degree in range-land sciences with a sustainable livestock ranching option.

When asked what Mr. Waldron's vision for the future of the Ag Science and North Lake FFA program is he responded: "North Lake is a very traditional Agricultural Education program, but we are also progressive and have to prepare students for career success in the modern world. We can't be content with the old 'Cows & Plows' model. Career Technical Educational programs have to evolve and train students to be prepared for high wage, high demand jobs.

I would like to continue to build a program that focuses on real life, relevant education to prepare students for careers. In addition to the daily routine and regiment students get from me about how to be successful in career: 1. Show up. 2. Show up on time. 3. Show up sober and clear headed; I also want to increase the training and preparation for students to be ready for the trades: electricity, plumbing, construction, HVAC, auto and diesel mechanics, manufacturing, concrete, drywall and flooring, plasmaCAM, AutoCAD, GPS, computers and other shop technologies. My vision is to focus more on the skilled trades and technician areas of employment, and see more of these kind of SAE or/and summer projects rather than just the traditional county fair animal projects. I think this is where employment and job opportunities are going to be and is the best service and education that we can provide to the students and community as a whole.

Conley Kittredge, Brad Libolt, and Chad Waldron practicing for the Soils Judging Contest in Oklahoma City at the National Soils Contest in 2014.

The National FFA Emblem dates back to 1926 when Henry Groseclose was working on developing the Future Farmers of Virginia constitution and bylaws. Digging through some ag materials from Denmark, Groseclose stumbled upon an image of an owl perched on top of a spade. From there he worked with R.W. Cline, a graduate student at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, to further develop the image, resulting in the FFA emblem we see today.

We recently used measure 98 money to hire a teacher with a current contractor license, and built an 'Ag. Structures and Trades' building where we hope to do a lot of this kind of education and training. I also hope to redirect much of our FFA summer program to help students with these type of SAE projects and interest."

Mr. Summers should be very proud. There is no bright shiny Award that can compare to what a legacy he has bestowed in the student he mentored to become the outstanding educator that North Lake High School has in Mr. Waldron.

BLM to hold public meetings on greater sage-grouse land use plan amendments

LAKEVIEW, Ore. - The Bureau of Land Management manages the largest single share of sage grouse habitat in the United States—nearly 67 million acres of 145 million total acres. The draft plan offers a range of alternatives for sustainable management of these lands. Balancing a consistent management approach across the range while addressing conditions and policies unique to individual states, BLM will be able to work more effectively with state and local managers to protect and improve sagebrush habitats on public lands.

The draft environmental impact statement and plan amendments is open for public comment. The comment period will end on June 13, 2024. For more information on how to comment on this draft visit <https://www.blm.gov/sagegrouse>. A final environmental impact statement is expected this fall, followed by Records of Decision in each state.

Lake County Community Wildfire Protection Plan (CWPP)

The Lake County Community Wildfire Protection Plan (CWPP) core committee met with fire prevention consultant Irene Jerome from John Day and held a community meeting at the Memorial Hall on April 17 to discuss updates to upcoming projects for future wildfire protection.

The CWPP is a protection plan developed by communities in areas at risk for wildfire. The meeting was well attended in collaboration with state and federal agencies, local fire departments, public health, Bureau of Land Management, Lake County Sheriff's Office, Commissioner Barry Shullanberger and Lakeview Mayor Ray Turner.

The risk of wildfire damage to properties and communities is increasing. CWPP's focus is to identify the affected at-risk communities and determine what actions are needed for improvement and protection, estimate costs, and implementation. The number one objective is preparedness. There are three requirements of a Community Wildfire Protection Plan: collaboration, prioritized fuel reduction, and treatment of structural ignitability.

To enhance safety and reduce risk to human structures and watersheds, communities with an approved CWPP are given priority for federally funded hazardous fuels reduction projects authorized under the Healthy Forest Restoration Act of 2003 (HFRA).

Discussions at the April 17 meeting included an update of process maps to target the areas of land at high risk for wildfire and develop a community risk assessment that considers fuel hazards and risk of wildfire for local homes, businesses, essential infrastructures, and forest lands.

Jerome adjourned the meeting with plans intact for the next step to complete the community risk assessment after CWPP members meet with various communities in the County. Jerome said, "I will be traveling around the County and meeting the various fire chiefs and interested community members on my own as well. I need to have the time to visit with people and get a more in-depth view of things and help develop a plan that is truly 'community based' and reflects the needs of the individual areas".

The public from all communities are welcome to attend the next CWPP meetings on:
June 5 - Adel, Plush, Lakeview, New Pine Creek at 5 p.m. at Lakeview Memorial Hall; June 6 - Paisley, Summer Lake, Valley Falls at 10 a.m. in the Paisley Community Center; June 6 - Christmas Valley, Fort Rock, Silver Lake at 2 p.m. at the Christmas Valley Community Center.

For more information visit www.oregon.gov/odf/fire/pages/cwpp.aspx.

- District access without your approval.
- Utility company/Water
- District may restrict your use of the easement when your use can harm underground water mains, valves, water meters, and the like.

If you're considering purchasing a property with a utility easement, take some time to research the local laws and regulations.

If you have questions regarding your utility easement call:
(541) 576-2090 or (541) 947-6921
