Letter to the Editor

No Christian should vote for Hillary Clinton. In 2008, she accused the "Senior Christian Women" of not voting for her and causing her defeat in the 2008 primaries.

She then joined the ACLU and the atheists and has been bad mouthing Christianity ever since; any Christian who votes for Hillary Clinton had better evaluate their Christian faith.

Grievances

Lake County's zoning ordinances are a product of state-mandated land use rules. The ordinances or rules were developed with state assistance by Lake County's appointed and elected officials over 35-years ago.

Ever since the adoption of these ordinances, Lake County has had a Planning Department or a Planning Director and a Planning Commission Board to deal with permissible uses and a variety of conditional uses. What has mostly been missing is the enforcement of these rules and that responsibility rests squarely with the Planning Director, supported by our elected Commissioners.

It seems obvious to me why Planning Director Darwin Johnson stated he doesn't think it's "worth the assets that could be used elsewhere" to enforce codes in North Lake County - that's more work for his department. However, his statement is in direct contrast to the past Economic Development Committee's findings several years ago.

It's also in direct contrast to Lake County Commissioners who thankfully put some funding in this year's budget for code enforcement. The real contrast will come when a new wave of complaints and concerns reach his desk.

Lake County should be proud of its planning and zoning ordinances. They are a product of Lake County. What would we have without them? I'm hopeful these latest ongoing efforts result in real code enforcement.

Thank You for Not Smoking

Lilli George, RN

Children exposed to secondhand smoke face increased risk of asthma, sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS), acute respiratory infections and ear problems. Secondhand smoke is also linked to heart disease and cancer in adults. Numerous studies have shown that exposure to second hand smoke, even outdoors, can pose a significant risk for non-smokers, up to 25 feet from the source.

In Christmas Valley, various community partners have shown a commitment to protecting the health of the community by providing smoke-free outdoor areas for adults and children to enjoy. In the heart of Christmas Valley, residents play in our beautiful, R.E. Flowerree Memorial Park. The good works of the Christmas Valley/North Lake Chamber of Commerce and Flowerree Park play host to a variety of healthy tobacco free/smoke-free activities for the Fourth of July celebration each year. Because of these dedicated individuals, tobacco litter such as cigarette butts are rarely seen by those enjoying the park. Cigarette butts are not bio-degradable and contain carcinogens and chemicals that are not only bad for human health, but also hurts birds, dogs, cats and fish.

Others in the community have shown support for the creation of a healthier environment in the north end of Lake County. Our North Lake Park and Recreation District has a tobacco free/smokefree play area and the Desert Whispers Newspaper publishes the tobacco Quitline information (1-800-Quit-Now) in each edition. Shara Shumway, board-member of the North Lake Park and Recreation and the Lake County Mentors program, is keen to note that smoke-free events protect our community from the deadly effects of secondhand smoke and demonstrates to youth that smoking or chewing is not the norm. Together, North Lake Community partners have shown dedication to creating a safe and healthy community for Lake County residents to live, work and play.

Back in Thyme Herbals: Mariposa Lily

Linda McCoslin

Since we encountered the beautiful, rare Mariposa lily of the lily family (Liliaceae), on our last herb walk, I thought it would be of interest to write what I could find on it. It is of the Calochortus species. I have found that most of this family's species combine the characteristics that show they are "lilies." The petals and sepals are usually similar in shape, size, and color and are in sets of three. They have six stamens with a superior ovary with three stigmas and three internal compartments. Most of them produce bulbs and long grass-like leaves. Lilies produce some of the most beautiful wild flowers in the sagebrush steppe. Some are occasionally collected because of their edibility, while some are deadly poisonous.

The Mariposa (Calochortus Macrocarpus) and Sego (Calochortus Nuttallii) as the Greek derivation of the generic name indicates, (Kalo means beautiful. Chorta means grass), the species of Calochortus are usually attractive. I haven't been able to find out anything, in any of my books so far about their edibility, pro or con. So, this is the info I have been able to find.

The characteristic three broad, lavender to white petals usually have a patch of hair-like filaments on the inner surface near the base and an associated purple band or splotch. They have a conspicuous green or yellow gland, sunken into the base of the petal, below the hairy band. The stems are unbranched below the flower stalks and arise from round starchy bulbs and bear a few to several rather thick, grass-like leaves, low to the ground. The flowers are typical of lilies with their three sepals, three petals and six stamens. The petals are larger, more ornate, and more brightly colored than the sepals. Unfortunately, the beauty of the flowers has led to over-collecting and commercial exploitation of some species to the extent that they are now endangered. So please, if you see them, do not pick them. Pictures will last a whole lot longer.

The showiest, at least in terms of size, is the Mariposa which grows in dry, sandy soil, often in major river drainages where it suffers from grazing pressure, as well as collection. It is irregularly distributed over the western "half" of the sagebrush steppe. A very common species in the eastern "half" of the steppland is the Sego Lily—the state flower of Utah. It has a conspicuous red to purple band over a bright yellow "eyebrow" complete with long hairs. The eyebrow is appropriately positioned above the eye-like yellow gland. The white petals, about an inch long and wide, are fan shaped with an abrupt point in the center.

Cats-Ear (calochortus lyallii) is a smaller but equally attractive lily, widely distributed in high sagebrush prairies and lower forests of Eastern Washington and adjacent British Colombia. It's ear shaped petals bordered by long hairs resemble cats-ears. It has purple, hairy "eye-brow" above the conspicuous, green gland. If I find out anything more about them or the facts of edibility, I will report on that.

Please remember our potluck, picnic and herb-walk at Diversion on Saturday, August 20th. I have had several people tell me they would like to join this one. I hope to see all of you there. Any of you who know where it is, you could meet us there as we will leave from Flowerree Park in Christmas Valley at 9:00 a.m. We plan to go in on the SW road.

Fort Rock Valley Historical Society is raffling a 31"x43" framed photograph of Fort Rock by Frank E. George III. Tickets are $5.00 each, or 5 for $20.00. Only 400 tickets will be sold. The drawing will take place September 11, 2016.

Mr. George is well-known in Oregon for his landscapes, and especially nighttime landscapes which may include the Milky Way, Northern Lights, or shooting stars. He was at the Fort Rock Homestead Museum with a group of photographers on June 10 through 12, for Milky Way photography. He has been very generous to the museum. FORT ROCK HOMESTEAD MUSEUM

Visit the Homestead Museum

One of the twelve homestead era buildings at the museum is the Stratton House. Fred Stratton and family came here from Michigan in 1912. Fred built the house and drilled a 196 foot well, which supplied barrels of water to other families @ 3 cents per barrel. Their home was eventually moved to Fort Rock, serving as post office. It came to the museum in 2000. The well drill was likely manufactured in Chicago around 1855, and was in use until the 1920s.

Introducing Alexa Negus, host of the Homestead Museum for the 2016 season. Alexa opens the museum at 11:00am Thursday through Sunday, and closes at 5:00pm. The season ends September 11, so hurry! We have new T-shirts and post cards, and always a great selection of books in the gift shop.

You can read more from the Fort Rock Homestead Museum on Facebook.

13th Annual Sagebrush

Family-Friendly Festival Features More Than Just

The weekend of August 18th through the 21st brings the yearly Sagebrush Rock Festival back to the area. Each year the festival takes place 3.8 miles north of Christmas Valley Hwy, off North Oil Dri Road, among the Junipers and “under the brightest stars on the planet.”

The musical acts this year kick-off on Friday night with LUCKY SAVAGE, a hip-hop artist out of Eugene. Following is JAKE COHARA, who is known for his unique looping and multiple instruments. Next up will be FRIENDS OF LENNY, a group from Bend that has been rocking audiences since 2011. DRUH BOY from Mt. Angel, called “The Oregon Rapper,” will round out the night.

Each musical act has a repeat performance on Saturday, with one additional group added. STRIVE ROOTS brings a “roots infused power groove” as the ultimate music therapy that soothes the soul, stimulates the mind, and rocks the body.

In addition to the stellar line-up of musicians on-stage, the family-friendly weekend features a full campground with 24 hour shower, volleyball court, horseshoes, playground, a swimming pool for the kids, and more. The evening of Thursday the 18th features a “Drive-In” style movie on the big screen.
