North Lake County officially joins KCC taxing district

KLAMATH FALLS — As of Friday, July 1, communities of northern Lake County are officially part of the Klamath Community College (KCC) Service District, a transition from Bend's Central Oregon Community College (COCC) years in the making.

The communities impacted include residents in Fort Rock, Christmas Valley and Silver Lake — all served under the North Lake School District. The transition is expected to lower taxes for residents in the area, while improving involvement and representation of Lake County citizens in regional higher education opportunities. The service district switch is expected to add over a thousand residents to the Klamath Falls based college's current regional taxing district, though financial gains are considered nominal. KCC has expanded and improved remote educational opportunities to serve students across Lake County in recent years, and will have a regular on-site presence in North Lake to support high school students and residents with access to academic and noncredit instruction.

As a welcome to KCC's regional support, the college is planning to participate in the Paisley Mosquito Festival in late July and will have representatives visit the North Lake area multiple times this summer.

Work has already begun on increasing dual credit opportunities for North Lake School students through KCC's Accelerated Learning program, which graduated a record number of high school students last month collecting either an associate degree or career pathway certificate the same time they received their high school diploma. Additionally, noncredit skills training and pre-apprenticeship instruction partnerships are under development to assist students on their path toward registered apprenticeship opportunities in construction trades.

"This has been a lifetime effort, off and on for over 30 years for me," said Alan Parks, operator of Poplar Farms in Silver Lake. The Parks family were among the community leaders of the original effort in the 1960s to have the Fort Rock School District join the COCC tax base. It was not until 1980 that Fort Rock and Silver Lake's school districts consolidated.

The Oregon Legislature through the State Board of Education and the department of Community Colleges and Workforce Development created the KCC Service District in 1996. Its purpose was to create, develop, and maintain a community college in Klamath County. With the addition of North Lake, it now covers eight districts, this being the first beyond Klamath County's borders.

After an agreement was signed in 2014 between Lake County School District 7 and KCC, Lakeview's historic Daly Middle School building was transformed into the Innovation and Learning Center (ILC), providing satellite classrooms and video synchronous courses in Lake County through KCC despite not falling under service district jurisdiction. This led to satellite classrooms also being established at Paisley and North Lake schools.

A petition was filed in 2018 with the Oregon Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) by Lake County residents to switch from COCC to KCC in part due to KCC's agriculture programs being advantageous to residents in rural communities. This petition was rejected so that a more formal transition could be initiated between COCC and KCC, with both schools' Board of Trustees in agreement to proceed by 2020.

"There is interest, there are needs, and now with online access there's more ability to learn," said Parks. "I am very impressed with the way KCC takes an interest in outlying areas, and provides a lot of programs that benefit high school students and others. We need to put (KCC President) Dr. Gutierrez on a circuit, his enthusiasm is really hard to ignore. Bright side is that he is going to continue to push things forward, that's wonderful."

In April a contingent of nine KCC representatives visited North Lake School to prepare for the switch, meeting with students, staff and residents to discuss community needs and expected services. "The addition of North Lake to the KCC district is an exciting opportunity to expand and improve access to an excellent college education," said Charles Massie, vice-president of external programs at KCC. "We look forward to being part of the North Lake community and welcome everyone to Badger Country!"

Another RECORD ATTENDANCE AT THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS VALLEY PARK AND RECREATION DISTRICT INDEPENDENCE DAY GOLF TOURNAMENT

The 2022 Golf Tournament was held on Sunday, July 3rd. Dan Kinion, one of the Golf Committee members, who has been instrumental in organizing this annual event for more than 14 years commented that the turn out is a record in all his years of helping with the event. There were 55 participants this year!

CVPR would like to thank Greg & Kristen Rondeau and Dan & Kathy Kinion for hosting the BBQ at their lovely home on the 6th Green.

A lot of work went into getting the golf course ready for this event. We are fortunate to have Robbie Newport, our Greenskeeper, who worked long hours to get the Green's repaired and the golf course ready for this event. Jim Strong, Dan Maple, Greg Rondeau and Dan Kinion made sure the course was ready, as well, and we thank them for hanging sponsor banners throughout the course.

Thank you to all the sponsors and businesses that religiously support our annual tournament and provide great raffle items for our participants: Christmas Valley Market (Fast Break), J.W. Kerns, Robbins Equipment, Sagewood Grocery, Santa's Hardware, Lakeside Terrace, Stockton Farm Market, Klamath Basin Equipment, Handde Pump & Electric, Chuck & Sue Bean and Oregon Country Realty.

The CV Golf Committee would also like to thank their Board representative, Shara Shumway, for her hard work year after year. She does a lot of the shopping for the BBQ, and she is always there to resolve any problem that may arise; she keeps everything running smoothly. Thank you, Shara!

PUBLIC NOTICE

Several of the properties in the Christmas Valley township have utility easements for the Christmas Valley Water District.

When you have a utility easement on your property, the utility company/Water District may have a range of legal rights.

A few restrictions you might face include:

- Utility company/Water District access without your approval.
- Utility company/Water District may restrict your use of the easement when your use can harm underground water mains, valves, water meters, and the like.
- Restrictions on physical alterations: You may want to make an improvement to a certain section of your property. But the utility easement may prevent certain upgrades, such as erecting a fence or a gate.
- Vegetation restrictions: The utility company may require regular access to a particular area and constantly tear up your garden. Additionally, many utility easements limit the planting of major trees in a specified area.

If you're considering purchasing a property with a utility easement, take some time to research the local laws and regulations.

If you have questions regarding your utility easement call:
(541) 576-2090 or (541) 947-6921

HELMUT EICHNER, D.C.

CHIROPRACTIC PHYSICIAN

I have been a chiropractor for 15 years and I absolutely love what I do helping patients improve and restore their health and lead a life of wellness. Chiropractic is based on the principal that health and wellness comes from within and spinal problems interfere with this balance.

I was born in Caracas, Venezuela. I received a Bachelor degree in Applied Sciences in Aviation at the University of Louisiana at Monroe. I also graduated from Parker College of Chiropractic, Dallas, Texas, in 2001. I practiced in Australia for 11 years before moving back to the United States and settling in Oregon.

I have a practice in Bend, Oregon and practice on Thursdays at the North Lake Health District.

I like to play soccer and other sports, but since moving to this area, hiking and skiing have become a new interest of mine. I am also very interested in yoga.

I have three children, Eros, Mateo and Athena and I have been adjusting them since they were born.

New Fire Detection Camera on Bryant Mountain

LAKEVIEW, Ore. — The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Lakeview District, along with help from its partners at the University of Oregon and the University of Nevada, have installed a new fire detection camera. The Bryant Mountain camera is part of a 700-camera network managed by ALERTWildfire. In Oregon, there are now ten wildfire detection cameras managed by the BLM. Planning is underway for one more wildfire detection camera on Acty Mountain, 60 miles east of Lakeview.

The ALERTWildfire website includes background on the development of the camera system. According to the AlertWildfire webpage, "ALERTWildfire is an expansion of the first network, ALERTTahoe, which was a pilot program in 2013 that deployed PTZ cameras and microwave networks in the region surrounding beautiful Lake Tahoe. This initial project was funded through the Nevada Seismological Laboratory at University of Nevada, Reno; the Tahoe Prosperity Center; the Eldorado National Forest; and the USFS Lake Tahoe Basin Management Unit. Soon after, through a contract with the Nevada Bureau of Land Management, the network quickly grew eastward into northern Nevada where the BLM Wildland Fire Camera Project was born."

"We are pleased to be working with our university partners in leveraging this technology to help protect the landscape and communities of Southern Oregon," said Klamath Falls Field Manager Kevin Heatley. "Early detection is a key component of effective fire management."

In addition to lookouts and aviation assets used in fire reporting for decades, the camera system gives fire managers a new way to spot and track wildfires.

A few clicks through the remote, web-based ALERTWildfire system can make the cameras zoom, rotate 360 degrees, tilt, and provide angles from multiple directions. Officials can watch the landscape, weather, and fire behavior in real-time or playback the feed later for another look.

ALERTWildfire video feeds are available to the public 24/7. Check them out at: <https://www.alertwild->

GRILLING TIPS

Divots: Push a divot in the center of a burger patty with your finger before you cook it. It will stay flatter as it cooks & be easier to eat on a bun.

Smoke Points: Butter burns at a lower temperature than oil. You can put on a little oil right before grilling (steaks, chops, or chicken). Or use dry rubs if possible as they have a higher smoke point than oil.

Grill Marks: Make grill marks on your meat by starting with a really hot grill, and then rotate your meat by 45 degrees. Try not to check your meat too frequently.

Steak: 4-6 minutes per side- rotate after 3 minutes

Burger: 3-4 minutes per side- rotate after 1½-2 minutes

Chicken: 6 minutes per side- rotate after 3 minutes

Juicy: Don't push on or flatten your burger or steak with your spatula while it is cooking; this forces the juices to run out. Also, do not cut meat open while grilling because juices will run.

Done temperature (internal degrees):

Ground beef: 160 degrees

Chicken: 165 degrees

Beef, veal, or lamb roasts, steaks, chops:

medium rare: 125 degrees

medium: 135 degrees

well done: 145-155 degrees

or Use the Finger Test
