

BUSINESS OF THE WEEK

John and Patty Effingham moved to Christmas Valley from Portland in July 1980 after purchasing their farm.

Patty a graduate of Warner Pacific College in Portland worked as a property manager for Safeguard Mini Storage and during tax season also worked for H & R Block.

Being a newcomer to the area it was really easy for Patty to see things that a community the size of Christmas Valley needed. One of the things Patty felt Christmas Valley needed was a bookkeeping and tax service, thus she opened Town & Country Bookkeeping & Tax Service. Patty feels that one of the most important aspects of any business is to have good, accurate records. People seem to think that it will cost them a lot of money to set up a good record keeping system. But it really isn't that expensive. Usually they will lose more money by not keeping accurate records.

The question that is most frequently asked of Patty is whether she signs your tax return. The answer to the question is yes. Patty is licensed by the State of Oregon as a Licensed Tax Consultant. She signs every return she completes. Patty says the state also has requirements regarding the confidentiality of information revealed by clients and requires continuing education classes to be taken.

There is always a coffeepot on at Town & Country and visitors are welcome.

CHRISTMAS VALLEY DOMESTIC WATER SUPPLY DIST.

In case any of our patrons read the article in the March 8 edition of the Oregonian entitled "Many Oregon Water Systems Fail to Fulfill Safety Rules," you will have noted that the Christmas Valley Water District was mentioned.

Please be reassured that samples are taken twice a month and sent to Century Testing Lab. in Bend. Once a month results are sent to the EPA. The samples do conform to standards, according to Clerk Sue Johnson.

The District has received two letters from the EPA stating that they are not sending in water samples. The District has answered both letters but have never received an answer. The District has also written the Board of Health without results.

The last lab reports were sent to the Epa by certified mail with return receipt. This will provide the District with proof that the reports were sent. A letter is to be sent to the Oregonian about the article. All interested are invited to check the lab results as copies are kept in the water office.

LOCAL AIRMAN

Airman Bill Malchow of Christmas Valley has completed his basic training and advanced studies. He left for Ramstein Air Base in Germany on March 10, 1981, according to his mother, Joyce Gallier.

EMT Suzanne Johnson reports four ambulance runs with three as the result of motor vehicle accidents. Since the ambulance came to Christmas Valley in June of 1979 there had been only one MVA involving local people. No one in that accident had to be transported. Between Feb. 25 and March 16 of 1981, there were three serious accidents and all required transportation to St. Charles in Bend. One of the accidents involved six victims and for the first time both the Silver Lake and Christmas Valley ambulance had to go to Bend. Please drive sensibly and alertly and save yourself a rush trip to Bend.
