

NEW BUSINESS: Trail's End Saddle Shop

Carl Fry, a retired welder and blacksmith, has opened a saddle shop one block north of the Christmas Valley Community Hall on the left side of the road. A sign is at the entry way and Carl is opened Monday thru Saturday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Originally from Nebraska, Carl herded sheep in Montana and there learned the art of braiding and leather work. Residing in Oregon since 1952, Carl has lived in Portland, Paulina and Madras and the last three years in Christmas Valley off and on.

At home now in Christmas Valley, Carl does saddle repair, braiding (reins, hackamore) and makes belts, wallets, check book and bible covers and purses. Christmas Valley Dental Opens

David Dunscombe and Timothy Battrell held open house February 7 at their new office at 510 Christmas Valley Road.

Dave Dunscombe and his wife, Judy have two children, Kortney, 5 yrs old and Syd, 2 yrs. old. Dave has had a practice in LaPine for 7 years and lives in Sun River. Dave and Judy enjoy wind surfing, tennis and snow skiing. Dave is an avid fly fisherman.

Dave has been coming out to the Christmas Valley area for about 4 years, enjoying the area and during this time started the idea of practicing dentistry here.

Judy states they are looking forward to working with the children in the area and giving them good dental care.

Tim and his wife, Candy, also live in Sun River and Tim has had a practice in Crescent for one year. According to Judy and Candy, Tim is a good cook. Tim and Candy enjoy camping and snow skiing.

Denied Septic Permits May Be Re-evaluated

The Environmental Quality Commission met recently and adopted a geographic area rule for Christmas Valley Townsite.

A request by 47 local persons "for relief from present evaluation requirements for subsurface sewage system" was presented to the Commission.

According to Environmental Quality records, there is a shallow permanent water table near the surface which precludes favorable site evaluation reports for construction of standard on-site systems in much of the area. This shallow permanent groundwater is very saline and unsuitable for domestic, industrial or agricultural use. Domestic water is obtained from wells 300 to 600 ft. deep.

A public hearing was held at the Christmas Valley Community Hall on November 19, 1981. Two alternatives were discussed: Alternative B which would require 24 inches of separation between the ground surface and the top of the ground water table was preferred by local residents.

Tom Scurlock, Park and Recreation Board member and local septic system installer, was lately notified that the E.Q.C. has adopted the alternative plan B.

Applicants who were previously denied permits in the affected area will be notified by the Department of Environmental Quality that their applications will be re-evaluated as time permits, according to Tom Scurlock. There is to be no charge for the re-evaluations, he added. Anyone desiring more information can contact Tom Scurlock at 576-2612.
