Help Fill a Local Need: Volunteer Your Time

Find something in your community that suits you. This community primarily functions through volunteers. We have many new community members and this community can benefit from a little bit of your time. The many new community members tax the already over stretched, long standing volunteers that oil the works of the under supported needs of the north end communities.

If you have questions of how you can help feel free to contact me, Glenna Wade, via Facebook [glennasonly] and I can help you find an activity that suits you.

HUNTING

The controlled spring black bear season opens April 1.

Cougar: Cougar season is open in the White River Wildlife Area, Jan. 1 – Dec 31. Don't forget to buy your 2020 hunting license and tag. Try using predator calls to increase your odds of success. Check to make sure the zone you are hunting in hasn't reached the harvest quota before you hunt.

Remember it is mandatory to check in your unfrozen cougar skull and hide with proof of sex attached to an ODFW office or designated collection site within 10 days of the kill by the person who harvested the animal. See page 62 in the big game hunting regulations or MyODFW.com for more information. It is also mandatory to submit the reproductive tract of any female cougar taken (see page 59 in the big game hunting regulations).

Wolves on the White River Wildlife Area are protected by state and /or federal law. It is unlawful to shoot them. Hunters targeting coyotes need to take extra care in identifying their target. Coyotes can resemble wolves, especially wolf pups. Please report any sightings of wolves or wolf sign to ODFW using the online reporting system..

Test your identification skills with ODFW's new Coyote and Gray Wolf ID Quiz.

Coyotes: There are no seasons or bag limits on coyotes. Populations are good throughout the wildlife area. This time of year coyote fur is prime and it is a great time for using predator calls. Be aware that bobcats and cougars may respond to predator calls, and separate licensing/tags and season limitations exist for these species.

Western gray squirrel: Season is closed.

Current road and weather conditions: Travel is allowed only on roads that are designated by the green dot. Many of the roads are now closed for winter to protect the roads and wintering wildlife. All of the wildlife area north of USFS Rd 27 (Badger Creek Rd) is closed to all public access Dec. 1 through March 31. Look for road information maps at entrances to the wildlife area. Most roads are muddy and hazardous so be prepared and drive carefully.

Reminders:

Display your required parking permit when visiting the wildlife area.

Camping in the wildlife area is allowed only in designated camping areas.

Campfires are allowed only in designated camping areas with an established fire ring.

Be prepared for snowy conditions and below freezing temperatures.

Please pack out your trash.

No ATVs allowed in the wildlife area.

Affordable Transportation

By Eric Olsen, Executive Director HELPS Nonprofit Law Firm

Affordable transportation is often a concern for senior citizens. Some seniors go without basics to make car payments they can't afford for a car with little or no equity. Others need affordable replacement transportation but don't have the income to finance a car. What are some options for these seniors?

I am the Executive Director of HELPS, a national charitable nonprofit law firm that educates lower-income seniors on how to maintain their financial independence. We regularly speak with seniors searching for answers to transportation problems. First let's discuss options for buying a car, then what to do if you have an existing car payment you can't afford.

Financing a car from a dealer might not be the best option or even possible for a senior with lower income. Dealers generally sell used cars "as is." If it later has mechanical problems, then the dealer is not responsible. When you finance a car, in addition to high-interest payments, you are required to carry costly insurance coverage. What can you do if you can't afford a car payment and yet need transportation?

The Craigslist website is the free modern version of "Want" ads where you live. Advertisements include detailed descriptions and photos. You can find reliable transportation through Craigslist often for around $1,000 or less. Log into Craigslist's local website and click on the "cars and trucks" link under the For Sale section. Type "runs good" in the search bar. In the left-hand menu, you will see three links to search by: "all", "owner", and "dealer". Click on the "owner" link to search for cars advertised by owners only. Why search for a car sold by an owner and not a dealer? Many used cars are purchased by dealers at auction. They have no idea what the real condition of the car is. In my experience, private owners won't represent a car as being in good condition unless it actually is in good condition. After all it's their car.

Here are some ads on Craigslist from my town. I searched in "Owner Only," and "runs good" with a price under $1,500.

"2001 Ford Taurus SES with 179k miles. Runs and starts just fine. A/C, power windows/locks 50-60% tires left. Would make great commuter or 1st car for a new driver. Asking $1,200."

"$900 2000 Hyundai 4 door automatic sedan. This car runs fantastic very smooth and quiet very dependable good body and interior."

"If you go this route, the car you purchase may not be the newest car, but frankly, car styles change little nowadays from year to year. You bought it from the person who owns that car, who represents that it "runs good." Your insurance costs will be less. If the car has a major mechanical problem in a year or two, so what, you can junk it. Just think of the payments you'll have saved. But it will likely last much longer.

What if you already have a car with a payment you can't afford? If it's worth more than what is owed, you could sell the car and buy a less expensive car. But what if the car is worth less than what is owed? The contract allows you to return the car to the lender. When the car you financed is surrendered or repossessed, there is usually a deficiency or extra amount owed on the loan after the car is sold by the lender. The most crucial message HELPS has for seniors with debt they can't afford to pay is that federal laws protect seniors' income, including Social Security, retirement, pension, disability and VA benefits. Even if you happen to be sued for the balance of a car loan after it is repossessed, your income can't be garnished. Seniors don't have to go without necessities to maintain a car payment they can't afford. And if you need a car and can't afford a payment, check out Craigslist. It just may solve the transportation problem. If you want to reduce your interest payments and lower your debt, try the free Debt Optimizer by MoneyTips. HELPS is a nationwide charitable law firm that protects seniors with debt they can't afford from unwanted collector contact and educates seniors how to maintain their financial independence. LAKE COUNTY SHERIFF REPORT

January 26th, Deputies responded to the 1000 block of South E Street regarding a dropped 911 call. The female victim advised that she and her husband had engaged in a verbal argument and the husband left the house. Deputies searched the area and located the male half sitting in his vehicle. When contact was made the male would not roll down the window or open the door to speak with the Deputies. An outstanding felony warrant was confirmed out of Deschutes County. The male suspect was arrested, transported to the Lake County Correction's Facility and booked.

January 28th, Deputies responded to Paisley High School regarding students who had consumed alcohol and were intoxicated. Prior to the Deputies arrival one student had been transported by ambulance due to his level of intoxication. The investigation revealed that several students brought alcohol to school and hid it in the toilet tanks in the boys restroom. The alcohol was consumed until the students became intoxicated. The students were contacted and taken to the office where one of the students became unresponsive. When questioned about the alcohol, one of the students confessed to stealing alcohol and marijuana from his mother. Both students were cited for possession and consumption of alcohol by a minor and one of the students was issued a citation for furnishing alcohol to a minor. The student taken to the hospital was admitted for observation and both were consequently released to their parents. Investigation has been forwarded to the Juvenile Department for follow up.

January 29th, Deputies responded to the 83000 block of Christmas Valley Highway due to a report of a domestic violence incident. When the female victim was questioned she stated her boyfriend struck her in the face with a fist and told her if she called the cops he would kill her. The female victim stated that her boyfriend was currently in the residence. The house was searched however the boyfriend was not located. The next day Deputies received a call that the boyfriend had returned to the house and was currently there. The house was searched again and the male suspect was found hiding behind a door in one of the bedrooms. The male suspect was arrested for Menacing and outstanding warrants. The male suspect was transported to the Lake County Correction's Facility and booked. The investigation has been forwarded to the DA's Office for charging.

August 19, 2019, Deputies responded to the Shell Station regarding a burglary where the suspects smashed the plate glass door, entered the business and stole a safe. The suspects loaded the safe in a stolen vehicle and fled the scene. During the investigation evidence was discovered, collected and sent to the Oregon State Crime Lab for analysis. The evidence was evaluated and revealed a suspect. An evidence warrant was written and signed by the Lake County Circuit Court Judge for DNA evidence on the known suspect. On February 7, 2020, the results of the buccal swabs obtained through the search warrant executed by an Oregon State Police Detective at the Klamath County Jail on January 3, 2020 at approximately 14:45 hours, were a conclusive match for Bryce Allen Stewart. Stewart remains in custody in the Klamath County Jail on a Parole Board Warrant and Klamath County charges. The investigation has been forwarded to the DA's Office requesting charges of Burglary II, Theft I, UUMV, and Criminal Mischief. Investigation is ongoing. It is believed that Stewart is the suspect in multiple burglaries in Lake County.

February 2nd, Deputies conducted a traffic stop in the 900 block of South 9th. When contacted the driver became very emotional and told Deputies that his female friend was distraught and was wanting to hurt herself. Deputies contacted the female and queried her about harming herself. The female was emotionally upset and said she needed help. The female was transported to the Lake District Hospital and released to the care of Mental Health.

February 2nd, Deputies responded to the report of a domestic disturbance in the 1000 block of South J Street. It was determined the domestic altercation was between mother and son. The investigation revealed that a verbal argument turned physical when the mother assaulted her son by strike him in the face. The investigation has been forwarded to the DA's Office for charging.

Investigation revealed that a known female stole several items from Dollar General and while she was exiting the door she triggered the anti-theft alarm and then took off running. The total value of items stolen is approximately $ 21.00 and the theft was captured on Surveillance Video. The suspect has not been located and a warrant for her arrest has been requested from the Lake County District Attorney's Office. Investigation is ongoing.

Egg Noodles

Ingredients:

2 Large Egg
1 tsp Salt
2 Tbsp Half & Half (or your choice of milk)
1½ - 2 cups all-purpose flour

Directions:

Mix eggs, milk and salt together until smooth. Stir in one cup of flour until smooth. Add additional flour, just a small spoonful at a time, until the dough comes together in a ball, but is still slightly sticky. Dump dough out onto a floured surface. Use well floured hands to knead the dough with your hands, until it's no longer sticky, about 3-5 minutes. Roll out onto a lightly floured counter until it's very thin - 1/4" thick or paper thin. Use a cutting wheel to cut the noodles into long strips, narrow or wide, whatever you like.

Cook them immediately or allow them to dry and store for later use.

Cooking: add them to a pot of boiling water and cook until tender to the bite, about 2-3 minutes. Drain and serve.

Drying: Dry them by laying them on a piece of parchment paper, or pasta drying rack. Then place them in a ziplock bag.

Refrigerate them for a few days, or freeze them for up to a few months. Then, cook them, from frozen, in a pot of boiling water or soup.

*Add these to your favourite soup, top with sauce, or enjoy with butter and fresh herbs.

Brownie Bottom Cheesecake Bar

Ingredients:
Brownie Layer

4 large eggs
2 cups sugar
¾ cup butter, melted
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 ½ cups flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup cocoa

½ cup sugar
2 eggs
¼ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Directions:

Line a 13 x 9 pan with parchment paper, grease and flour, then Spoon in batter and spread to edges. Bake in a 350° oven for 15-20 minutes, just until the crust starts to form on top.

While brownies are baking, prepare the cheesecake layer: In a mixing bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth. Add in sour cream and sugar and beat again.

Add eggs, one at a time, to cream cheese mixture, beat well. Add vanilla extract and beat until combined. Spoon mixture on top of baked brownie bottom, smoothing to completely cover the brownie layer. Return to the oven and bake for 30-35 minutes, until the center no longer wobbles and edges are just starting to turn golden. Remove from the oven and let cool completely before refrigerating. Chill for at least 2 hours before serving.

EXOTIC PLANTS PART 2

BALSAM OF PERU: Myroxylon balsamum- VRR. pereirac (Royle) Warmes -
Pea FAMILY-Legumi nosae.

Although it thrives chiefly in El Salvador, in the region bordering the Pacific Ocean know as the Balsam Coast, the tree is popularly called balsam of Peru. It got this geographically confusing name because the Spanish shipped its thick resin, or balsam, to Europe from part in Peru. Today the tree grows wild throughout much of Central America, in Southern Mexico, and in parts of Northern South America.

Easily grown from seeds or cuttings the balsam of Peru is often planted for shade on coffee plantations also just for shade trees much like our elms. It averages 50 to 65 feet tall, but has been known to get much taller. It has evergreen leaves, which are divided into glossy, oblong or oval, 2 to 3 1/2 inch long leaflets, each sprinkled with transparent dots. Clusters of fragrant white flowers are at the ends of the branches.

It is not the leaves, nor the flowers, nor its graceful form that gives the balsam of Peru its commercial value. Rather it is the balsam itself - the thick, delightfully fragrant resin (it smells like cinnamon when fresh, like vanilla when aged) found in the trunk - that people have sought for centuries.

The Indians in Central and South America, including the mighty Incas who ruled Peru, knew that the balsam was effective in stopping bleeding and in promoting healing. They also used the leaves as a diuretic and to expel parasitic worms. The Indians introduced the trees medicinal virtues to the Spaniards, who quickly recognized it as a potentially lucrative item of trade and began sending it home.

Today the trade in balsam is vigorous. The resin finds its way into antiseptic and fungicidal ointments used for such varied skin diseases or disorders as scabies (an itch caused by parasitic mites) and ringworm (a fungus infection). In the United States, the resin is also an ingredient in dental cements and in suppositories marketed to relieve the itching of hemorrhoids. It is employed, also, to flavor cough drops and to perfume toiletry goods.
