Help Fill a Local Need: Volunteer Your Time

Find something in your community that suits you. This community primarily functions through volunteers. We have many new community members and this community can benefit from a little bit of your time. The many new community members tax the already over stretched, long standing volunteers that oil the works of the under supported needs of the north end communities.

If you have questions of how you can help feel free to contact me, Glenna Wade, via Facebook [glennasonly] and I can help you find an activity that suits you.

Locks on Water

The Christmas Valley Water District has asked for local business owners to lock the water faucets.

The Water District office is located at 87379 Holly Ln. in Christmas Valley and they offer water at .05 cents a gallon.

Erica Anderson spoke with the Desert Whispers and stated this is not about money, this is about the safety of the people we serve. If for some reason, any reason there was to be any kind of contamination in the district the water district would have no way of getting in touch with or even knowing who has received water.

The water district is set up to control and maintain with testing of the water that comes from them. If you have any questions please contact the Water District so they can better explain this and serve you safe water. They can be reached @ 541-576-2090

Bullying Is Never Okay

How To Help A Child Overcome Bullying

By HealthPrep Staff

The prevalence of bullying is hard to ignore. Research indicates between twenty-five and thirty-three percent of children ages twelve to eighteen have experienced some form of bullying. Bullying should never be dismissed as simply 'kids being kids,' as it can have significant long-term consequences for victims, leading to loneliness, low self-esteem, depression, and anxiety. Children who are bullied often suffer academically and socially due to the stress caused by bullying. Bullied children may try to avoid the activities where the bullying occurs, leading to decreased school and social participation. If your child is a victim of bullying, there are several steps you can take as a parent to work through the situation with them. Let's review these steps now!

Learn About The Situation

Justin Stum, LMFT

If you suspect your child is being bullied, first do what you can to understand the situation. Bullying typically happens when adults are not around, or when witnesses who are likely to speak up are not present. Many bullied children may be hesitant to speak up out of fear or embarrassment. It is important to get as many facts as possible, so encourage open and honest communication with your child. Try to learn about the situation from as many sources as possible, including your child, friends, or other trusted adults. Do not rush to judgment until you have had time to learn about the situation.

Open communication with your child is key to understanding and dealing with a bullying problem. Encourage your child to express themselves so you can gain a full understanding of the situation. Your child should feel comfortable talking about the problem and how it makes them feel. You are your child's ally in overcoming the bullying, and they need your encouragement. Allow your child to process their feelings and talk through the situation when they are comfortable. Provide an understanding ear, and ask them how you can help. If they need more help than you can offer, a counselor can be a valuable resource

As you and your child work through the bullying problem together, it is crucial teach them how to respond to bullying. Never encourage your child to fight back physically, as they could get hurt or in serious trouble. Make sure they know which adults to reach out to if bullying occurs. Adults such as a teacher, principal, school counselor or bus driver can all help handle bullying situations. Encourage your child to implement the buddy system and surround themselves with friends. Teach your child to walk away from a bullying situation calmly, rather than letting the bully get a reaction out them. This tactic does not mean the bullying should be ignored, as all bullying should be reported and dealt with, but it does give a sense of power back to your child.

Contacting the appropriate authorities is often a key part of dealing with bullying

If a crime has been committed or someone is in immediate danger due to bullying, contact the authorities or dial 911. When bullying occurs during school hours or on school property, promptly contact the right authorities, starting with your child's teacher and principal. You can also contact the school counselor and district superintendent. If bullying occurs on the bus, also be sure to contact the district transportation officials and your child's bus driver. Each state addresses bullying in its own laws and educational policies. You can contact your state's Department of Education to find out more about anti-bullying laws in your state. If you feel your school is not handling bullying appropriately, the Department of Education in your state is another resource you can use.

Don't let bullying take your child down.

HELMUT EICHNER, D.C.
CHIROPRACTIC PHYSICIAN

I have been a chiropractor for 15 years and I absolutely love what I do helping patients improve and restore their health and lead a life of wellness. Chiropractic is based on the principal that health and wellness comes from within and spinal problems interfere with this balance.

I was born in Caracas, Venezuela. I received a Bachelor degree in Applied Sciences in Aviation at the University of Louisiana at Monroe. I also graduated from Parker College of Chiropractic, Dallas, Texas, in 2001. I practiced in Australia for 11 years before moving back to the United States and settling in Oregon.

I have a practice in Bend, Oregon and practice on Thursdays at the North Lake Health District

I like to play soccer and other sports, but since moving to this area, hiking and skiing have become a new interest of mine. I am also very interested in yoga.

I have three children, Eros, Matteo and Athena and I have been adjusting them since they were born.

Bullying can be detrimental to a victim's self-esteem. Thankfully, there are many things parents can do to boost their child's self-confidence.

First, remind your child the bullying was not their fault and encourage your child to spend time with close friends who love and support them. Support your child's interests and hobbies. For instance, they may excel at sports, music, or drama, so encourage these activities to boost self-confidence. Help your child find what they are good at, and give them a chance to build those skills and really shine. The negative impacts of the bullying will be reduced if your child has a social network where they feel valued and included. If your child is lonely, help them find an extracurricular or community activity where they can start to build a social group.

Christmas Valley Park and Recreation Dock Gets a Make Over

Christmas Valley Park and Recreation's dock is getting a newer, fresher, safer face lift on the lake. The Board approved the Community Service Crew to recondition the dock in order to make it safer for fishing and for those who would like to walk out and look at the lake. Although the weather put a stop to finishing the staining, the crew is looking forward to the warmer weather to start so they can finish this project and move on to another one. Keep your eyes open as changes are coming to our area.

EXOTIC PLANTS

BLACK PEPPER: Piper Nigrum L./Pepper Family/ Piperaceae:

No plant since the apple of Eden has had a larger, more telling effect on human history than the black pepper vine. Beginning in 327 B.C. when Alexander the Great invaded India and discovered the pleasures of well seasoned food, wars have been fought, Kingdoms overthrown, unknown oceans braved, and continents discovered all for the sake of shriveled, bead like fruits known as peppercorns. Attila the Hun, holding all of Rome hostage, demanded 3,000 pounds of them as tribute. Throughout medieval Europe, pepper was commonly traded, ounce for ounce, for gold. In 1488, in search of a water route to the spice markets of India, Bartholomew Dias first sailed the raging water around Africa's Cape of Good Hope. Four years later, looking for an easier route to the same markets, Columbus landed in the New World. In the centuries that followed, European nations vied viciously with each other in colonizing Tropical lands and trying to corner the spice market.

The fruits that inspired these deeds are produced by a woody, broad-leaved evergreen vine that is cultivated today in many tropical lands, from India, Indonesia, and Malaysia to South America and West Indies. The stout vine which is allowed to climb poles or small trees in cultivation, bears many slender, densely packed flower spikes are generally harvested while still green; the signal is the reddening of the lowest fruits are dried until the flesh around the single hard seed is wrinkled and grayish black, then ground into black pepper or packaged and sold as whole peppercorns. The milder white pepper is made from the same plant; but the fruits are allowed to ripen, and the flesh is removed before the seeds are ground.

Black pepper's aromatic, slightly musty odor comes from the volatile oils found largely in the flesh and skin; its pungent bite comes from the alkaloids piperine and piperidine and resins found mostly in the seeds. The oils go into perfumes and flavorings. The searing substances have served many purposes: They have gone into lineaments and gargles; used as carminatives, reducing stomach and intestinal gas; they are found to stimulate the activity of the heart and kidneys. Piperine is also an effective insecticide against house flies, and gardeners use pepper spray against several pests.

Cubeb Berries, The fruits of the closely related cubed pepper, P. cube ba, contain substances that have been used as antiseptics, carminatives, and diuretics. Ground into powder and added to cigarettes, They are smoked, in the tropics where they grow, for the relief of throat inflammations. Oil of cubed is a constituent of some throat lozenges.

Through my own studies, pepper added to anti inflammatory, is a synergistic - meaning it makes them work quicker and stronger.

LAKE COUNTY SHERIFF REPORT

February 27th,

Deputies responded to an incident involving a theft of cans within a gated residence. The victim reported that a known suspect entered a gated area in the rear of his residence and stole two sacks of empty cans. The incident was caught on video by a surveillance camera and confirmed what the victim had stated. The suspect was located and interviewed regarding the theft. After originally denying the theft, the suspect stated that he might have stolen the cans if he was hungry. The suspect was cited and released and provided some food.

March 1st,

Deputies responded to the 800 block of South G Street regarding a welfare check. The reporting party stated that his daughter and her boyfriend who had been drinking were involved in a domestic dispute. The argument involved her boyfriend having a drinking problem. She mentioned that during the argument her boyfriend called her undisclosed filthy names. She mentioned a previous incident in which he physically forced her against a wall in the residence while screaming in her face. The boyfriend was contacted and arrested. The suspect was transported to the Lake County Jail where he was booked.

March 3rd,

Deputies responded to the 700 block of Center Street regarding a trespass incident. When Deputies entered the apartment the suspect was observed sitting on the couch in the residence. When asked the suspect acknowledged that she was not supposed to be at the location and admitted she had been trespassed in the past. The suspect exited the residence and was told she was under arrest for Criminal Trespass II. The suspect was transported to the Lake County Jail and booked.

Policy: Animals on Park and Rec Properties

Christmas Valley Park and Rec

Christmas Valley Park and Recreation District has adopted a policy concerning pets/animals on Park and Rec properties. This policy is an attempt to keep our facilities an enjoyable place for all users.

When on Christmas Valley Park and Recreation property (including the Rodeo Grounds, Golf Course, Play Area, etc.) all domestic animals, whether pets livestock, or other, must be leashed and/or under the direct control and supervision of their owner/handler.

Horses are not allowed on the Golf Course at any time- EVER!

Any defecation (poop) from the animal must be cleaned up immediately by the owner/handler. Individuals failing to comply with this policy will be asked to leave Park and Rec property. Animals freely roaming, with no apparent owner/handler in the area may be treated as strays. The proper authorities will then be contacted.

And PLEASE, keep off the Golf Course while the ground is frozen... Especially the greens.
Thank You!
