The Fort Rock Community Church is having a quilt show on Saturday the 4th of July at Hanks House in Christmas Valley from 10-4. They will be displaying their quilts - some of which will Xbox for sale along with other handmade items with the monies going to the church building fund. The ladies make quilts for local agencies such as the Tree of Joy, a local cop cars and families whose homes are burned.

They also gave quilts to Prairie House in LaPine, and in Bend quilts go to Ronald McDonald house, Grandmas House, Bethlehem Inn, and Sheppards House. The ladies have put together a patriotic quilt to be given away at the end of the day.

Also at Hanks House the local Stitch Rippers will be having a drawing for their quilt at 4 pm. See you there!

North Lake Community Fireworks

WE STILL REALLY NEED YOUR HELP!!!!!!

*Please spread the

Are you ready to watch all your generous donations go up in smoke with a flash and a bang?!? We met our fund raising goal last year, so we were all set for a great show! Then the COVID pandemic hit. There was a lot of angst about whether we would be allowed to put on our display this year, but in the end, the show will go on! We will be putting on a display on the 4th of July at the same venue as usual. That being said, there are changes to our normal activities.

The North Lake Community Fireworks team does our best to raise the funds necessary by January 1st to provide the entertainment that so many in our community enjoy on our nation's Independence Day, the 4th of July. We voluntarily participate in several fund raising events through out the year to generate the money that directly funds the order of fireworks for our display. Many of our fund-raising activities have been cancelled this year due to social distancing requirements! We depend, to a great extent, on charitable donations and this year we need extra help!

Due to the past year's global economy, our cost to put on a show comparable to last year's has increased dramatically. Our goal was to secure $10,000, before January 1st, 2020. We were successful! But this year, we are unable to put on the children's carnival, the waterparks, or any other fund raisers that we normally participate in. This is where you can help us, our community, and yourselves! It is a potential win, win, win!

If you enjoy our show this year, or have enjoyed any of our previous shows, please consider donating to the 2021 show, and spread the word! All donations to the North Lake Community Fireworks Fund are tax deductible. Any money you can donate directly impacts the coming year's fireworks display and every penny counts. Why not help yourself to a receipt for a tax-deductible charitable donation to a local non-profit organization? And remember; every cent you donate goes directly to buying fireworks. Our volunteers don't take any compensation beyond the pride we feel when we hear people talk about our shows!

North Lake School

With my retirement and departure from North Lake now in effect, I would like to give you my final update on issues facing our community and school.

CONSTRUCTION:

While our campus is closed until further notice due to construction and the Covid-19 guidelines – significant things are still happening at North Lake!

The Annex building is being re-built from the floor up. When completed, it will house our Alternative Education and Primary programs. We have added a "community" room for 4H and other community uses. When school resumes this fall 3rd grade will probably start in that room until the main classroom additions are completed around January with the major construction addition. Griffin Construction believes the Annex will be completed and ready to re-occupy near August 1.

The Bus Maintenance facility construction is in the beginning phase. When completed all of our transportation needs will be conducted from this building; bus parking, administration and routine maintenance. We anticipate this building being completion in January, 2021.

The main construction consists of a new 3rd grade classroom, special education classrooms and an elementary gym. Underground utilities and foundation work has been completed and walls are expected to start going up any day. This phase of construction involved tying into the current building and existing systems and some re-purposing of identified internal spaces. Our current 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th grade rooms were impacted by this tie-in. All rooms (except the current 3rd grade room) are expected to be ready in early August.

Our 30 year old carpet has been torn out and the entire facility will be re-carpeted in July. Our entire school is getting a facelift. All construction is expected to be completed in January/February. Some retro-fit projects may be completed in the summer of 2021. Most of our classroom furniture and materials are stored in the gym.

SCHOOL CLOSURE AND REOPENING IN THE FALL:

While school has been closed since mid-March, new Superintendent Gail Buermann-Neumann and new High School Principal Jeremy Williams have been attending multiple work sessions with the Department of Education and their health authority representatives. Re-opening is complicated at this time and Mrs. Buermann-Neumann will have a draft plan available to the School Board in July. This plan will be finalized and adopted in August. I urge you to be patient as the new administration navigates through this complicated process.

MY DEPARTURE:

While I will certainly be less visible, I do hope to remain active in certain North Lake activities. I hope to stay involved with the North Lake Education Foundation, perhaps stay involved with Klamath Community College as our transition continues, assist the new administration when and if needed and just be a quiet advocate for North Lake. I have enjoyed my time with you, I am proud of our shared successes and will now turn my primary focus to Mrs. Kerr and our grandchildren (#18 is due in December!). If needed, I will be at what our grandkids affectionately call "Grandma's House." Thank you for letting me a part of the North Lake family! I wish you all well.

The community relies on us for the fireworks displays that remind us all of what Independence Day is about, and we rely on the community to help us provide the funding that facilitates these monetary donations than they can afford to give their time. So... you know you are getting your money's worth when you get to enjoy watching every cent of your donation go up in smoke!

Please consider making a donation to the North Lake Community Fireworks fund. Make checks payable to North Lake Community Fireworks Fund.

Donations may be given to Patty Effingham at her office, Erica Anderson at the Water Department office, Carrie Mace or Becky Widenoja at CV Market, Lloyd Mace at Robin's Equipment, or Jim Anderson or Ben Widenoja at Point S Tires. Please ensure we have an address to send your receipt to. displays. Our most memorable displays come from the support of those who can afford to give more.

We, and our community, thank you for your charity and support!

The reason we celebrate Independence day on the fourth of July

It's because on that day, in 1776, the Continental Congress approved the final wording of the Declaration of Independence. The 13 colonies claimed their independence from England, an event that subsequently led to the formation of our United States of America.

For over a year prior to the signing of the Declaration of Independence the conflict between the colonies and England had been brewing. On June 7th, 1776, the Continental Congress assembled in the Pennsylvania State House; later known as Independence Hall. It was at this session that history was made by the resolution presented by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia with these famous words: [be it] "Resolved: That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States, that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved." With these words began the drafting of a formal Declaration of Independence.

On June 11th, 1776, consideration of the resolution was postponed by a vote of seven colonies to five, with New York abstaining. Even so, a committee of five members, John Adams of Massachusetts; Roger Sherman of Connecticut; Benjamin Franklin of Pennsylvania; Robert R. Livingston of New York; and Thomas Jefferson of Virginia, were appointed with the daunting task of drafting a statement presenting to the world the case for independence.

On July 1, 1776, the Continental Congress reconvened, and on the following day the "Lee Resolution for Independence" was adopted by 12 of the 13 colonies, New York refusing to vote.

In the days that followed discussions of the Jefferson's "Declaration of Independence" resulted in some minor changes. The process of revision continued throughout all of the day on July 3rd and through the late afternoon of July 4th, when it was officially adopted by a favorable vote of nine of the 13 colonies. Pennsylvania and Connecticut voted "no", Delaware was undecided, and New York abstained.

It is said that John Hancock, President of the Continental Congress, signed his name with great flair so that King George could read it without spectacles.

Today, this symbol of our freedom and liberty, and of Jefferson's most enduring monument, is housed in the National Archives in Washington, D.C.

In 1870, July 4th was officially designated a national holiday to commemorate the day the United States laid down it's claim to be a free and independent nation!

We invite and encourage you to read a transcription of the complete text of this cherished document, the Declaration of Independence, on pages 22 & 23 of this edition of the Desert Whispers.

SHERIFFS REPORT

LAKE COUNTY
SHERIFF'S OFFICE
513 CENTER ST
LAKEVIEW, OR 97630
(541) 947-6027

On Friday, April 17, 2020, Deputies began an investigation involving a domestic dispute involving two females, from Christmas Valley. During this investigation they learned of one of the female's sex offender registration requirements, as well as, a parole warrant out of Deschutes County. The female was not found at that time. On Wednesday, June 17, 2020, a Deputy was called out after midnight to a domestic dispute in Christmas Valley. The investigation led to the female's arrest for failure to report as a sex offender and the Deschutes warrant.

On Monday, June 15, 2020 Deputies and Oregon State Police responded to the Tall Town Trailer Park in Lakeview regarding a harassment complaint. Statements made by an adult male indicated possible officer safety concerns for law enforcement. Surrounding law enforcement agencies have been advised regarding an officer safety bulletin.

On Friday, June 19, 2020, Deputies confirmed a local warrant for a known Lakeview man. Deputies contacted the individual on his property off Old Lake Road. The individual was issued a citation-in-lieu of custody for that warrant.

On Saturday, June 20, 2020, Deputies responded to the Lake County dispatch center of a report of a male subject vandalizing the waiting area. An adult male subject was arrested for criminal mischief 3 and disorderly conduct and transported to the Lake County jail.

On Saturday, June 20, 2020, Deputies responded to a report of an out of control adult female screaming on South 'F' Street in Lakeview. Upon further investigation, the female was arrested for disorderly conduct and lodged in the Lake County Jail. While processing the female at the jail, a club modified with metal spikes was found in that female's property. The female was charged with felon in possession of a weapon.

On Saturday, June 20, 2020, Deputies contacted two parties regarding an harassment complaint. At which time, Deputies were shown a screen shot of a partial FBI investigative report from a Facebook posting, associating them as RATs. The subjects involved were part of the Malheur Refuge takeover in 2015/2016. Deputies are requesting this report be forwarded to FBI for further follow-up.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

A learning experience.
Failure and Regret.
By Terrence Barlow

Recently I was nearing home after a day's work. I was driving our little car towing a little trailer. Unnoticed by me, a young man had been "four wheeling" in his pickup in the pit near our house. I guess, in his excitement he forgot where he was. As he popped up, out of the pit, onto the road, directly in front of me. What could have been just another fatality crash, turned into a moment of panic, defensive driving and adrenaline rush. I managed to avoid disaster. Not killing him in a broadside impact and not rolling my car and trailer as I "took the ditch."

After sliding to a stop on the gravel. I got out of my car on shaky legs and screamed a couple of vile comments about him and his driving skills. Got back in my car and went home. And for the next four days, told the story again and again to anyone that would listen. Secure and justified in my driving skills and response.

But then I went to church and heard words about forgiveness and gratitude for blessings. As a professed Christian, I then realized how poorly I had handled the situation. Instead of getting out of my car and responding in anger and fear. I should have got out, walked back to the young man and quietly joined him in a prayer.

EXOTIC PLANTS

Chinese Rhubarb - Rheum palmatum L.

Family: Polygonaceae; buckwheat, knotweed, sorrel, rhubarb

A Chinese herbal remedy more than 2,000 years old included a plant call Tahuang, "great yellow", so named because of the mild but effective purgative contained in it's yellow rhizomes (underground stems). Chinese rhubarb, R. palmatum, and it's close relative R. officinale, both native to the cool mountains and high plateaus of western China and Tibet, have been medically important in the Orient from that time to this. The bright yellow powder from the rhizomes of these Far Eastern plants has also played an important role in European medicine and commerce.

As early as 114 B.C., caravans carried the dried rhizomes eastward over the high mountains to Bokhara in central Asia, whence they found their way to Europe by way of the Black Sea. Dioscorides and Pliny wrote of the plant in the first century A.D. In later centuries, Arabs conducted a busy trade in rhubarb by way of Persia and other parts of the mid East. In the 1650's, two major routes had been established for importing the drug from China, one through India, the other through Moscow via the Gobi desert and Siberia. By 1687, the Russians had established a monopoly on the trade, in part because they rejected inferior imports and built a reputation for high quality. Their monopoly was not broken until 1860, when the port of Canton was opened to direct trade between China and Europe.

18th Century Europeans had begun cultivating the edible garden rhubarb, R. rhabarbarum, for medicinal purposes. The rhizomes served folk medicine as a mild laxative, but they do not have the medicinal properties that give Chinese Rhubarb it's powers. In fact, they contain a poisonous substance as do the leaves. So, they may have done more harm than good.

Chinese rhubarb's medicinal components fall into two categories: antraglycosides and tannins. The first causes the laxative effects, and the second are astringents, which have the opposite effect. Depending on the size of the dose and the way it is given you can treat constipation and diarrhea.

Chinese rhubarb is sometimes grown as an ornamental. It is difficult to start from seed, so it is almost always propagated from cutting or root division.

CRITTER CORNER

Living in Lake County you may have encountered Horned lizards (Phrynosoma), also known as horny toads or horntoads, they are a genus of North American lizards and of the reptile family Phrynosomatidae. The common names refer directly to their flattened, rounded body and blunt snout.

The genus name Phrynosoma means "toad-bodied". In common with large true frogs and toads, horned lizards tend to move sluggishly, making them easy to catch; this may also avoid triggering attacks by predators. They are adapted to arid or semi-arid areas.

the lizard's sides are modified which prevent water loss through the skin, horns are true horns have a bony core. Of the 22 horned native to the United States. The largest-bodied and most widely distributed of the US species is the Texas horned lizard.

Horned lizards coloration generally serves as camouflage which helps them to avoid predators. When threatened, their first defense is to remain still to avoid detection. If approached too closely, they generally run in short bursts and stop abruptly to confuse the predator's visual acuity. If this fails, they puff up their bodies to cause them to appear more horned and larger, so that they appear to be more difficult to swallow. At least eight species are also able to squirt an aimed stream of blood from the corners of the eyes for a distance of up to 5 feet. They do this by restricting the blood flow leaving the head, thereby increasing blood pressure and rupturing tiny vessels around their eyelids. The blood not only confuses predators, but also tastes foul to canine and feline predators. However, it appears to have no effect against predatory birds. Only three closely related species (P. mcallii, P. modestum, and P. platyrhinos) are known to be unable to squirt blood.

While previous thought held that compounds were added to the blood from glands in the ocular sinus cavity to make up this defense, current research has shown that the chemical compounds that make up the defense are already in the circulating blood. It is possible that their diet of large quantities of venomous red fire ants could be a factor; however, the origin and structure of the chemicals responsible are still unknown. The blood-squirting mechanism increases survival after contact with canine and feline predators.

To avoid being picked up by the head or neck, a horned lizard ducks or elevates its head and orients its cranial horns straight up, or back. If a predator tries to take it by the body, the lizard drives that side of its body down into the ground so the predator cannot easily get its lower jaw underneath.

Locally, if you see large colonies of red fire ants, you may observe a horntoad lurking about ready to dine on it's favorite food.

In Congress, July 4, 1776

The Unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. --

Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule in these colonies: For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burned our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens taken captive on the high seas to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare, is undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.
