RICHLIN

~A Summer Lake Treasure~

In February 2020, a young man's passion for music was embraced by the music world when Gotee Records announced new artist Richlin as a member of their artists family as he debuted his original song "Royal Blood". The official music video was shot on location in various settings of the unique Oregon Painted Hills outside of Mitchell and at the Sisters' Observatory of Sisters, Oregon. Richlin's "Royal Blood" went on to receive a GMA Dove Award nomination for Rock/Contemporary Song of the Year 2020, and Pandora has also selected him for its Top 20 Predictions Artists for 2020 among many global mainstream artists.

Ryan Stevenson said it well in an interview with Abby Young of Christian News for the Gotee Records announcement: "I'm so proud and excited to introduce RICHLIN to the world," shares label-mate Ryan Stevenson. "We both grew up in tiny little farming communities in Southern Oregon and have been close friends for many years. I've watched him grow and mature over the years and I know that his heart is rooted and established in the deep things of the Lord. It's been a huge honor to be able to bring him into my music/label family, and to see him become aligned with such an amazing team. His heart and music is a mere reflection of his time spent in the secret place, cultivating a fire of intimacy with the King of Kings. Not only am I excited to see his music impact the world, but I'm equally excited to see his infectious heart and personality minister to everyone who hears and meets him!"

Ryan, who was raised in ranch country in Bonanza, Oregon, and Richlin (Brandon Richardson) met at Bible Camp growing up and their 25 year friendship has endured through the love of music and the love of the Lord. Ryan Stevenson was firmly established with Gotee Records (a Christian record label based in Nashville, TN founded in 1994 by record producers Joey Elwood and Todd Collins, along with Grammy-winning artist Toby Mac) since 2013 when his third extended play, "Holding Nothing Back", was released by Gotee. He shared Richlin's music with Toby Mac and Gotee and without hesitation they signed him. Ryan and Richlin have collaborated on writing songs over the years, and the two country boys from Oregon are now fulfilling their musical destiny's under the same music label and as label-mates.

Richlin was raised in Summer Lake. Richlin's father was the ranch manager for Pernoll Ranch in Summer Lake and the family lived in a house above the Summer Lake store. When his father wasn't attending to the business of ranching and tending cows, he was working on his passion, building log homes. Richlin and his brother played and worked on the ranch and attended the Paisley school from the first to the twelfth grade. Richlin remembers that the Paisley school had a dormitory for foreign students that would come from all over the world for the school year. It was a unique experience for both the local kids and for the foreign students. He remembers, also, that often times those students, having been led to believe that they were going to a more sophisticated large town school experience, would arrive exhausted from their long journey to Paisley and were very disappointed that they had been deposited into the epitome of nowhere. However, the camaraderie and the small town simplicity usually won them over and their experience in Paisley was reflected upon with fondness when it was time for them to depart.

Richlin's love of music began about age twelve when his uncle, Western Artist, Lenn Babb, was teaching his father to play the

WELCOMING 2021

I think we can all say the year of 2020 has been one of the most difficult years known to most of us for a very long time. We have experienced social and economic hardships as well as health concerns for ourselves and our family and friends. 2021 will likely be one of the most welcome New Years to come in many years.

As we think about the approaching new year, it may be helpful to take into consideration the hardships of 2020 and how we may support a better year to come for ourselves and others. Supporting local businesses can help maintain services as well as economic stability during these difficult times. We can also make the effort to minimize a sense of isolationism by sharing a friendly greeting when our paths cross.

In continued support of the wellbeing of our community, our local clinic has maintained several services during the pandemic. Dr. Arbow has continued to see patients, supporting eye health and current eye wear prescriptions. Dr. Eichner has continued to see patients in his chiropractic care. The NLHD is pleased to welcome The Giving Plate, open Saturdays as a children's food bank and hosting fun and safe holiday activities throughout the year. The clinic has maintained full services for established patients seeking primary care appointments, x-ray, immunizations, wellness exams, flu shots, Outreach services and behavioral health, as well as lab work and COVID testing with provider orders.

We're ALL frustrated by months of imposed restriction to our daily activities, but we can minimize the impact by respecting that many of these restrictions are often employer or government imposed and not the decision of front line employees. As a medical facility, the clinic is following guidelines from the Center for Disease Control mandating that masks must be worn anytime you enter the building, (always remember to bring your own mask with you). Limiting exposure is also in practice asking that adult patients attend appointments alone unless they need to have one other person with them for medical reasons. Anyone wishing to be seen by a clinic provider who is symptomatic with cold or flu symptoms is not to enter the building, but rather call from the parking lot and be escorted in through the ambulance entrance to minimize exposing others to seasonal colds and flus as well as possible COVID exposure.

From the staff of the North Lake Health District, we wish you all a safe, happy and healthy holiday season and a bright New Year.

guitar and his father in turn began teaching him. He listened to country music and contemporary Christian music growing up and in high school he began writing his own songs. He discovered that by writing songs about his faith he had a universal language to convey the message and ministry he felt led to undertake. As a young boy he knew that he was destined to do something great with his music ministry.

After graduating from high school, Richlin left Summer Lake for college where he met his wife, who was raised in Wyoming. Together they headed for Dallas, Texas, after college for a ministry position at Christ of the Nations church. They both endured the culture shock of living in the heart of the big city of Dallas and being separated from family for six years before returning to Oregon. After 15 years of marriage they are settled into family life with their children in Sisters, Oregon. Richlin's parents have also relocated to Sisters, where his father now has his log home building business, and his brother and his family are close by in Redmond. He is very busy as the Worship Pastor for Wellhouse Church in Sisters and is hopeful that life will return to some semblance of "normal" and allow him to be able to go on tour next year to promote his music and ministry.

"No one hears your failures; they hear your "over-night" success. Feed your focus. Starve every distraction. Dream big and when you know something in your heart do not be deterred."

~Richlin (Brandon Richardson)

The above submitted photo was shot in Summer Lake, Oregon, during the making of the music video "Love Like Thunder" which debuted in September 2020. Richlin is featured with label-mate Ryan Stevenson. The song is already to #40 on the Billboard Christian Airplay Chart and Top 30 on the Mediabase Christian Audience Chart.

"I sat down to write a song one day and I thought man, we have such a grasp on the love of God," RICHLIN says about writing "Love Like Thunder." "The love of God is peaceful and it surpasses knowledge and understanding, but I wanted to write a song that talked about how forceful the love of God really is. It shakes the skies, shakes the seas, and yet it's so personal that it touches my heart, touches your heart."

As we enter a season of increased COVID-19 transmission, remember...

Do NOT delay care.

Delaying care for chronic illnesses (diabetes, heart disease, lung disease, etc.) or new medical concerns as well as avoiding preventative healthcare could drastically increase your chance of being infected with COVID-19. It is important that you stay on top of these illnesses so that you can protect your immune system and reduce your risk of needing to visit the emergency department or be admitted to the hospital.

HIGH DESERT BRAIN FOOD PROVIDES BACKPACK LUNCHES FOR CHILDREN IN NEED.

Five years ago, Lindy Simmons, while visiting her sister in Arizona, discovered a brilliant program that her sister was involved in. The program gave underprivileged children the ability to take home a "backpack lunch" for the weekend. Typically these children would receive free or reduced priced lunches at school, but during the weekend and on holidays they would often go without.

Soon after returning from her visit to her sister, Lindy approached the North Lake School District principal and superintendant to see if there would be a need for a similar program for the underprivileged school children within the North Lake School District. She was told that they had been hoping for such a miracle to help with this exact issue. Lindy then took the idea to the board of her church, Fort Rock Community Church. There was no resistance or hesitation, the church was on board for Lindy's project.

The Brain Food program provides nutritional backpack lunches to approximately 77 school children so far this school year. On average they supply approximately 50 backpack lunches during a typical school year. The school obtained a grant to supply the backpacks and the food for the weekend lunches is obtained through fund raising and donations to Fort Rock Community Church. Volunteers purchase the food and pack the backpacks every week during the school year. The food must be nutritious, have a good shelf life, and must be easy for a child to do for themselves. The child learns to be responsible for their backpacks and must bring them back to the school to have them replenished each week.

In years past, the local Music Festival has donated a substantial amount to help fund the lunches, however, this year the music festival was cancelled due to COVID, leaving a deficit for the Brain Food program. Sagewood Market donates all the tortillas used by the lunch program and continues to do so in spite of COVID.

Cash donations are greatly appreciated and can be made through Fort Rock Community Church.

If you would more information, contact Lindy Simmons at (541) 420-1947.

A Thank You Note!

Christmas Valley Park and Recreation would like to thank everyone in the community for making the annual Trunk or Treat a success in spite of the odds this year.

We would especially like to thank Rose Rodgers and Travis for donating their time and energy to decorate the Community Hall and Kenny LaPlant and Floweree Farms for donating and delivering the straw.

We look forward to seeing everyone next year!!!

The Tradition of Mistletoe at Christmas

Mistletoe is a plant that grows on a range of trees including willow, apple and oak trees. The tradition of hanging it in the house goes back to the times of the ancient Druids. It is supposed to possess mystical powers which bring good luck to the household and wards off evil spirits. It was also used as a sign of love and friendship in Norse mythology.

When the first Christians came to Western Europe, some tried to ban the use of Mistletoe as a decoration in Churches, but many still continued to use it! York Minster Church in the UK used to hold a special Mistletoe Service in the winter, where wrongdoers in the city of York could come and be pardoned.

The custom of kissing under Mistletoe comes from England. The earliest recorded date mentioning kissing under the mistletoe is in 1784 in a musical. There was kissing under the mistletoe in the illustrations in the first book version of 'A Christmas Carol' published in 1843, and this might have helped to popularize kissing under the mistletoe. The original custom was that a berry was picked from the sprig of Mistletoe before the person could be kissed and when all the berries had gone, there could be no more kissing!

The name mistletoe comes from two Anglo Saxon words 'Mistel' (which means dung) and 'tan' (which means) twig or stick! So you could translate Mistletoe as 'poo on a stick'!!! Not exactly romantic is it!

Mistletoe was also hung on the old English decoration the Kissing Bough.

Exotic Plants

Gum Arabic - Acacia Senegal (L) Willd.

Pea Family: Leguminosae

The Sand dunes of Northwest Africa may seem unlikely havens for ornamental trees. Yet it is in this largely barren landscape, as well as in other parched areas of Africa, India, and the Mid east, the gum Arabic trees thrive, often forming dense thickets. It is a scraggly specimen much of the time, seldom more than 15 feet high. Its branches, sparsely covered with fern-like leaves, are lined with the same kind of talon-like thorns. After the seasoned rains, fat red buds swell, and the tree comes alive with color. The buds open to become fluffy wands of ivory-white flowers, soon to be joined by a new crop of foliage.

Lovely as it is, this seasonal show is the least of the tree's virtues. In time of drought the deeply fissured gray bark splits and resinous sap swells out slowly, hardening into bead-like tears an inch or two across. As the Egyptians discovered more than 3,700 years ago, this sap is of great value. They used it for centuries as a glue to hold together gems and shards of colored glass and as a base for long lasting paints, so that today we can see, among other things, their depictions of heaps of karni (as the Egyptians called gum Arabic) and of the tree from which it came. Perhaps they also used it as a medicine: we cannot be sure. But we do know that medieval Arab physicians treated a wide range of ailments with gum Arabic - hence its name.

In the old days, the sap was harvested largely by nomadic Bedouins. These wanderers first followed along, circular routes across the desert, slashing the bark off wild trees as they went, and then they retraced their steps to gather the precious tears. Today, although some gum Arabic is still taken in the old way most comes from cultivated planting. The vast majority of these plantings are in Sudan's Korodofan Province. Here, long strips of bark are cut away after the seasonal rains have ended usually in February and March or in August and early September. After three or four weeks, when the translucent pinkish or yellowish tears have hardened, reapers sweep them off using long-handled nets to avoid the needle-sharp thorns. Brittle, virtually odorless and tasteless, the tears are cleaned, sorted, and sun bleached, then packed in 100 -pound sacks and taken to market.

Gum Arabic is a key ingredient in sore throat, coughs, and diarrhea treatments, as it soothes irritated mucous membranes; it is also the glue that holds some pharmaceuticals together. More than 11,000 tons imported into the U.S. each year goes to the food industry - used by bakers for body and texture and by candy makers to coat their products with a hard sheen. Other uses: wax polishes, water colors, other paints, envelope flaps, and postage stamps.
