DESERT WHISPERS

The Intent of DESERT WHISPERS is to publish a variety of information from all aspects of life in North Lake County. We neither support nor condemn any ideas, creed, religion, custom, attitude, belief or law. Opinions expressed are not necessarily the opinions of the Christmas Valley Park and Recreation District Board members, staff, personnel or advertisers. The Christmas Valley Park and Recreation District is not responsible for errors in articles and/or ads submitted to be published without change. The Christmas Valley Park and Recreation District Board of Directors reserves the right to reject any submitted material for any reason.

DESERT WHISPERS welcomes letters to the Editor. Letters should be printed or written clearly. Each letter must be signed. DESERT WHISPERS reserves the right to condense long letters or to edit for content. We will avoid this whenever possible. DESERT WHISPERS reserves the right to judge the acceptability of a letter in regards to vulgarities, profanities, or slanderous content.

Deadlines for DESERT WHISPERS are at least seven (7) Days before issue dates of the 1st and 15th of each month. Please have your ad or article to the DESERT WHISPERS office BEFORE the published deadline. If the ad or article is NOT received by 2 pm on the deadline, it may not make it into that issue. Ads and articles can be received by mail, by e-mail, or dropped off at the office.

In Congress, July 4, 1776

The Unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. --

Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule in these colonies: For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burned our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens taken captive on the high seas to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare, is undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

JULY 4TH 2021 marks 245 years since the Declaration of Independence was written. We, as a People and new Nation of many origins, were confronting absolute tyranny, rule by decree and arbitrary government. 13 years later the US Constitution was signed at Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

The Declaration of Independence is not an amenable document and it speaks to what the United States is and what it's interest are, as well as some of the responsibilities required of it's citizenry. It attests to all people being "endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness."

The Declaration of Independence is scheduled to be performed, with rehearsed theater, in John Floweree Park, from the west stage just before the fireworks after music in the park this year. An effort to bring a gift to our community and our People, never brought before, has been prepared.

A modern soundtrack, from an original motion picture has been chosen as a backdrop and "Dramatic Performance Rights" are being retained from Sony Music Entertainment and 20th Century Fox Film Studios in compliance with all copyright laws for possible future performances.

https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=vGB_uJfmCbU

All are invited to enjoy the fireworks every year and this year, something truly special. I am hoping for some more feedback as we approach Independence Day. Possible dress rehearsal attendance at unknown locations TBA, C-ya there.

Rabbit Hemorrhagic Disease (RHD)

Rabbit Hemorrhagic Disease (RHD) is a highly contagious, fatal viral disease in rabbits caused by multiple virus strains. RHD is spread between rabbits by direct contact with infected animals or their urine and feces. RHD does not affect humans or other animals.

Symptoms of RHD in rabbits could include:

- Acute/rapid death
- Fever
- Lethargy
- Lack of appetite
- Congested membranes around the eyes
- Nervousness
- Lack of coordination
- Excitement or paddling
- Difficulty breathing
- Bloody, frothy nasal discharge at death

Protect Your Rabbits

Keep your distance

- ✓ Restrict access to your property and keep your rabbits away from other rabbits.

Keep it clean

- ✓ Wash your hands thoroughly before and after working with your rabbits. Clean and disinfect equipment.

Don't haul disease home

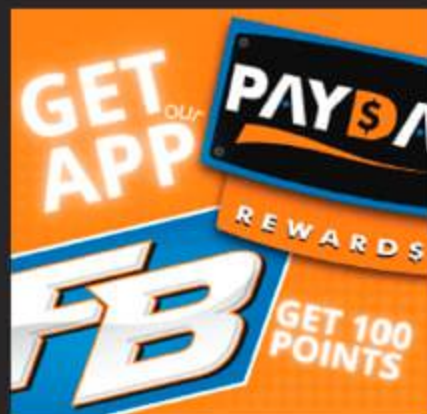

- ✓ Buy rabbits from reputable sources and keep new rabbits separated for at least 30 days.

Don't borrow disease

- ✓ Do not share equipment or supplies with neighbors or other rabbit owners. If you must borrow, disinfect it first.

Know the warning signs

- ✓ Early detection can help prevent the spread of disease.

The 12 Rules of American Flag Etiquette

Here's how to honor the stars and stripes.

By Alexandra Churchill

You might be surprised to learn that prior to Flag Day in 1923, there were no official guidelines on how to display our star-spangled banners. It was on this day that the National Flag Code was drafted by representatives of the Army and Navy under the auspices of the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion. It was printed and given nationwide distribution. Years passed. Then, on June 22, 1942, Congress passed a joint resolution (later amended on December 22, 1942) that dictated what is known today as the U.S. Flag Code.

In the code, there are several sections on how to display the flag, how to maintain and handle the flag, and as well as general respect. Perhaps the most important one dictates how citizens should behave around the stars and stripes, as it is the emblem of our identity as a sovereign nation. Therefore, citizens are asked to stand at attention and salute when their flag is passing in a parade or being hoisted or lowered.

We're reminded of this when the flag is flown proudly everywhere: Memorial Day, the Fourth of July, Election Day, and Flag Day itself. Of course, not all patriotic celebrations are created equal. Here are the do's and don'ts as outlined in the U.S. Flag Code to make sure your tribute is a respectful one:

1. Display the flag only between sunrise and sunset on buildings and stationary staffs. The flag may be displayed for twenty-four hours if illuminated in darkness.
2. Do not display the flag in inclement weather.
3. Whether displaying the flag vertically or horizontally, make sure the canton of stars is visible on the upper left-hand side.
4. Do not let the flag touch the ground.
5. The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.
6. Before flying a flag at half-staff, hoist to its peak for an instant before lowering it.
7. When displayed against a wall with another flag, their staffs crossed, the American flag should be on the right of the other flag (on the viewer's left), with its staff on top of that of the other flag.
8. When flags of states, cities, or localities are flown on the same halyard with the United States flag, the national flag should always be at the top. No other flag should be placed above, or if on the same level, to the flag's right.
9. When flags of two or more nations are displayed, they should be flown from separate staffs of equal height. The flags should be of approximately equal size.
10. When the flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle, the canton should be placed at the peak of the staff.
11. An unusable flag that is damaged and worn and can no longer be displayed should be destroyed in a dignified way by burning.
12. When not on display, the flag should be respectfully folded into a triangle, symbolizing the tricorne hats worn by colonial soldiers in the Revolutionary War.

BACK IN THYME

Submitted By: Linda McCoslin

Is everyone as anxious as I am?

Fourth of July is fast approaching, and I can't wait to see how wonderful our parade will be this year. We have so many new people moving here, maybe we will get more entries. After all, we are all tired of being confined.

I'm also hoping the crazy weather pattern will be nice to us for the weekend, we are getting to enjoy "Music in the Park" again this year with a Beer Garden and food booths. How fun! Its always nice to get to visit with old friends we haven't seen in a while as well as maybe meeting a few new ones.

If this years fireworks are anything close to what we have seen in the past, it should be magnificent!

I don't know what else is going on, but I hope everyone enjoys themselves.

Have a Happy Fourth!

~ Linda

PET SAFETY TIPS FOR THE FOURTH OF JULY

As the Fourth of July approaches, we think fondly of fun, food, and fireworks. Your pet can probably sense your excitement, but there's a good chance your dog or cat is scared of fireworks.

THE GRILL

The danger is not just from heat and smoke. In fact, a grill can be dangerous before it's even lit—lighter fluid and matches are hazardous for your pet.

Alcoholic Beverages & PEOPLE FOOD

• A cocktail or beer can be a festive and relaxing way to enjoy the holiday, but that drink is a potential poison for your dog.
• Certain foods that commonly accompany celebrations, like chocolate, onions, and avocados, can be toxic to your four-legged friend. Resist the urge to give them any BBQ scraps, even for the "special occasion."

HEAT & WATER

The best way to keep them cool is to keep them out of the sun and well hydrated. Make sure you always have water on hand for your dog and keep water bowls from drying out.

BUGS

Insects that are annoying and harmful to pets as well. Mosquitoes carrying heartworms are found everywhere in the U.S. Using a regular heartworm preventive can save your pet's life.

When controlling pests, keep in mind that chemicals can be harmful to pets. Chemical flea infestations can cause pneumonia, and chemicals together can lead to nervous system disorders. The same goes for insect repellents. So only use repellent made specifically for pets.

FIREWORKS

Familiar Spaces

Keep your kitty or puppy in a cool, familiar escape-proof room or their crate.

Distractions

Consider offering a special pet-friendly treat or a new toy that can help distract your pet from the loud booms.

Get a Workout

Take them for a walk or run, play fetch, just do any safe activity to burn them out beforehand.

White Noise

The white sound that you find between radio channels or leaving the fan on is a perfect example of white noise. You can get white noise from fans, too. Make sure to close windows and draw curtains and blinds to add an extra layer of soundproofing.

THE GREAT INDOORS

Many veterinarians suggest keeping your dog inside at all times (minus potty breaks, of course) during the holiday. Not just at night when the fireworks are the loudest. If your cat is allowed outdoors, it would be good to bring them in as well. The indoors will most likely be the safest and most comfortable place for your pets.

The loud chaos surrounding our favorite patriotic celebration can lead nervous pets to escape, break leads and run away to find shelter. The Fourth of July holiday is notorious for being the top time of year for lost and runaway pets.
