La Pine Community Health Center ~ Christmas Valley ~ Saying Goodbye After Seven Years of Service

As a Federally Qualified Health Center, LCHC was able to bring many more services to the Christmas Valley community than were previously available. By providing a discounted fee program, enrollment assistance for Medicaid, outreach services and assistance with other organizations, insurance for veterans, nutritional support, transportation assistance, dental assistance and other support patients have become healthier and have been able to lead more productive lives.

After more than seven years of ongoing collaboration, La Pine Community Health Center (LCHC) will be ending the contract with North Lake Health District (NLHD), thereby closing operations at the North Lake Health District Medical Center. The last day of LCHC patient care in Christmas Valley will be Wednesday, May 31, 2023.

In August 2015, LCHC entered an agreement with NLHD to be the provider of healthcare services at the NLHD Medical Center. As a Federally Qualified Health Center, LCHC was able to bring many more services to the Christmas Valley community than were previously available. By providing a discounted fee program, enrollment assistance for Medicaid, outreach services and assistance with other organizations, insurance for veterans, nutritional support, transportation assistance, dental assistance and other support patients have become healthier and have been able to lead more productive lives. As the NLHD and Christmas Valley community are aware, the income produced at this site continues to fall short and does not cover the operational expenses—even with the assistance received from NLHD—causing a great financial loss by LCHC that cannot [and should not] be sustained.

After much consideration, and at the recommendation of the Health Resource Services Administration consultants, the LCHC Board of Directors has made the difficult decision to remove our services from the NLHD Medical Center. LCHC services will be available to the residents of the North Lake County area at our other health center locations, and we are hopeful that the NLHD Board will be able to partner with another healthcare provider to provide services locally to their community.

Over the next couple of years, we look forward to expanding services in La Pine by increasing access to primary medical care and adding on-site dental and diagnostic imaging services. We are excited to share more information regarding these additions and will do so as the time becomes appropriate.

As always, we are thankful to our patients, collaborative partners, and community leaders for the ongoing support!

The North Lake Health District Board invites members from the public to attend their regularly scheduled Board meeting on Monday, February 6th, 2023 at 5:00 p.m., held in the NLHD Conference Room at 87520 Bay Road, Christmas Valley, OR. The Board will be discussing the notice from the LPCHC to terminate services in Christmas Valley; among other agenda items.

What's happening at the North Lake Health District?

Our Board is happy to announce that the Dentist Office will be opening later this Spring 2023. Lake County Wellness Center has moved their offices from the Lake County Annex Building into the NLHD Medical Center.

KLAMATH COMMUNITY COLLEGE ADDS COSMETOLOGY PROGRAM

KLAMATH FALLS — As of January, students interested in pursuing careers in cosmetology and barbering have been enrolling in the new Klamath Community College Cosmetology program. The KCC Cosmetology program, along with public salon services, are continuing to be offered in the former College of Cosmetology's facilities on East Main Street, in the Mills Addition neighborhood, until a permanent program center is established on the main KCC campus.

The new KCC Cosmetology Associate of Applied Science Degree program will utilize business coursework and general studies classes alongside technical cosmetology instruction previously offered through the College of Cosmetology. This business-focused direction is intended to prepare students to become professional stylists and barbers combined with sufficient business coursework and experience to proficiently operate their own business if they so choose. Many of the instructors previously with the College of Cosmetology are now leading the KCC Cosmetology program.

"KCC will be the first among Oregon community colleges to identify the great demand for professional stylists, barbers, and estheticians and establish a program to address that need," said KCC President Dr. Roberto Gutierrez.

"We are excited to offer not only technical skills but also business pedigree so that students are prepared for all aspects of operating their own business. We will also be working on meeting the continuing education needs locally and elsewhere among salon working professionals by offering online or hybrid course work so they can keep up with the changing needs of the industry."

Some students previously enrolled at the College of Cosmetology will have a credit balance, and funds returned. KCC cosmetology students who paid fees for supplies and materials at the College of Cosmetology qualify for fee waivers.

"The team at KCC is utilizing the most advanced technology and curriculum available in the industry today as a Pivot Point (cosmetology curriculum) partner," said Lynelle Lynch, KCC Cosmetology Advisory Board Chair. "They are going above and beyond the actual license curriculum and creating an associate degree in cosmetology that will allow graduates to have extensive knowledge in how to manage their business. I am very impressed with the quality of the programing and the support the graduate will have in career services."

The KCC cosmetology program is being offered as a two-year associate degree, or as a one-year certificate for hair design, barbering, and nail technician/esthetician. Pathway opportunities will also be offered for nail technician and esthetician.

Through Lynch's decade-old charity Beauty Changes Lives, scholarships are available in the field of cosmetology at beautychangeslives.org. Students may also receive assistance through Federal Pell grants and KCC Foundation Education Access and Opportunity scholarships.

Salon services are available at KCC Cosmetology, 357 E. Main St. in Klamath Falls. A wide variety of hair, skin and nails services are available to the public; call 541-882-6644 to make an appointment, or for more information visit www.klamathcc.edu.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Several of the properties in the Christmas Valley township have utility easements for the Christmas Valley Water District.

When you have a utility easement on your property, the utility company/Water District may have a range of legal rights.

A few restrictions you might face include:

- Utility company/Water
- District access without your approval.
- Utility company/Water
- District may restrict your use of the easement when your use can harm underground water mains, valves, water meters, and the like.
- Restrictions on physical alterations: You may want to make an improvement to a certain section of your property. But the utility easement may prevent certain upgrades, such as erecting a fence or a gate.
- Vegetation restrictions: The utility company may require regular access to a particular area and constantly tear up your garden. Additionally, many utility easements limit the planting of major trees in a specified area.

If you're considering purchasing a property with a utility easement, take some time to research the local laws and regulations.

"She Walks in Beauty"

by LORD BYRON (GEORGE GORDON)

She walks in beauty, like the night
Of cloudless climes and starry skies;
And all that's best of dark and bright
Meet in her aspect and her eyes;
Thus mellowed to that tender light
Which heaven to gaudy day denies.
One shade the more, one ray the less,
Had half impaired the nameless grace
Which waves in every raven tress,
Or softly lightens o'er her face;
Where thoughts serenely sweet express,
How pure, how dear their dwelling-place.
And on that cheek, and o'er that brow,
So soft, so calm, yet eloquent,
The smiles that win, the tints that glow,
But tell of days in goodness spent,
A mind at peace with all below,
A heart whose love is innocent!

Be My Valentine Forever by Belinda Galea

*I love you for a lifetime,
Not only for a day.
I love you for who you are,
Not what you do or say.*

*I love the way you love me back,
So there is only one thing I can say.*

*I love you with my heart and soul and every other way,
So will you be my valentine not only for one day?*

"How Do I Love Thee?"

by ELIZABETH BARRETT
BROWNING

How do I love thee? Let me count the ways.
I love thee to the depth and breadth and height
My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight
For the ends of Being and ideal Grace.
I love thee to the level of every day's
Most quiet need, by sun and candlelight.
I love thee freely, as men strive for Right;
I love thee purely, as they turn from Praise.
I love with a passion put to use
In my old griefs, and with my childhood's faith.
I love thee with a love I seemed to lose
With my lost saints,—I love thee with the breath,
Smiles, tears, of all my life!—and, if God choose,
I shall but love thee better after death.

USDA Forest Service Launches New Efforts in Oregon, Washington to Address Wildfire Crisis

LAKEVIEW, Ore., January 19, 2023 — Department of Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced today expanded efforts to reduce wildfire risk across the western U.S., directly affecting national forests in Oregon and Washington.

These investments, made possible through the Biden Administration's Bipartisan Infrastructure Law (BIL) and the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA), will directly benefit at-risk communities and critical infrastructure across 11 additional landscapes in Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Washington.

"It is no longer a matter of if a wildfire will threaten many western communities in these landscapes, it is a matter of when," said Secretary Vilsack. "The need to invest more and to move quickly is apparent. This is a crisis and President Biden is treating it as one. Today's announcement will bring more than $490 million to 11 key landscapes across the western United States, and will be used to restore our national forests, including the restoration of resilient old-growth forest conditions."

In the Forest Service Pacific Northwest Region, the Mount

Hood National Forest in Oregon and the Colville National Forest in Washington were selected for increased funding.

The Mount Hood is being funded $4.5 million and the Colville is being funded $2.16 million from the Inflation Reduction Law.

The Mount Hood landscape covers one million acres in north-west Oregon and includes three fireheds, several wilderness areas, and the Bull Run watershed, which furnishes drinking water to nearly a million people in Portland and surrounding communities. More than a third of all Oregonians depend on water from this landscape.

The Colville landscape is on 1.6 million acres adjacent to the Colville Reservation in north eastern Washington. It includes critical infrastructure like State Routes 395 and 20 and large energy facilities. In addition, the landscape has vital habitat for species listed or proposed for listing under the Endangered Species Act, including Canada lynx, grizzly bear, whitebark pine, woodland caribou, and bull trout. The Fremont-Winema National Forest in southern Oregon will be working with the Forest Service's Pacific Southwest Region to support the Klamath River Basin landscape. This landscape covers more than 52,000 acres in Oregon and Northern California and is being funded $35.4 million.

This announcement complements the agency's 10 landscape projects announced in 2022 and the agency's broader strategy to address critical infrastructure, community protection, and forest resilience at risk to catastrophic wildfire. Combined with the initial investment landscapes, these actions will span nearly 45 million acres across 137 of the 250 high-risk fireheds in the western U.S., with a total investment of $930 million on 21 landscapes across 26.7 million acres in 2023.

This work will mitigate risk to approximately 200 communities within these landscapes.

"Today's announcement is great news for Oregon and Washington and our Pacific Northwest National Forests," said Glenn Casamassa, regional forester for the Pacific Northwest Region of the Forest Service. "These investments will allow us to do more work with tribes, the states, and our partner organizations to increase the health and resiliency of our forests and reduce the potential for devastating wildfires."

To meet this moment, Secretary Vilsack is also authorizing the Forest Service to utilize a new emergency authority in the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, combined with strategic implementation of existing authorities. Doing so will enable the agency to move more quickly in applying targeted treatments to high-risk fireheds identified in the agency's Wildfire Crisis Strategy, as well as post-fire recovery areas most impacted the past several years.

These actions are required to be conducted in an ecologically appropriate manner that maximizes the retention of large trees, considers historically underserved communities and tribes, and is done collaboratively with communities and partners.

"Doing this work in the right place, at the right time, and at the right scale, combined with the use of emergency authorities, will accelerate our planning, consultation, contracting, hiring and project work to reduce wildfire risk and improve forest health and resilience," said Forest Service Chief Randy Moore. "Collaboration with Tribes, communities and partners will remain a priority, and we will continue to use the best available science when carrying out this important work."

Background: The Forest Service Wildfire Crisis Strategy

This announcement comes on the anniversary of the launch of the Forest Service's Wildfire Crisis Strategy, which debuted Jan. 18, 2022. A few months later in April, the agency introduced the initial 10 fire-prone landscapes that are now funded for the next five years through Bipartisan Infrastructure Law funds.

Since releasing its Wildfire Crisis Strategy one year ago, the Forest Service and its partners have used the best available science and data to identify the highest risk landscapes for treatment projects. The Forest Service found that around 80% of the wildfire risk to communities is concentrated in less than 10% of "fireheds," or areas where wildfires are likely to threaten communities and infrastructure. These targeted investments focus on fireheds of the highest risk, where projects are ready to begin or to expand.

The 10-year strategy calls for treating up to 20 million acres on national forests and grasslands and up to 30 million acres of treatments on other federal, state, Tribal, private and family lands. Over the past 20 years, many states have had record catastrophic wildfires, devastating communities, lives and livelihoods, and causing billions of dollars in damage. More than 10 million acres – more than twice the size of New Jersey – burned each year across the U.S. in 2020, 2017 and 2015.

The Wildfire Crisis Strategy builds on current work, leverages congressional authorities and partnerships to support the department's work to mitigate wildfire risk, and restore forest health over the next decade. In addition to State Forest Action Plans, the strategy also aligns with the Collaborative Forest Landscape Restoration Program, Tribal Forest Protection Act, Good Neighbor Authority, Joint Chiefs' Landscape Restoration Partnership and Shared Stewardship agreements.

In June 2022, USDA released the Secretary's Memorandum on Climate Resilience and Carbon Stewardship of America's National Forests and Grasslands. The Secretary's memo builds on previous actions on climate change, equity, and forest resilience, but provides more specific and time-bound actions to integrate into agency programs. The Forest Service used the guidance in the Secretary's memo to better inform the selection criteria for projects under the Wildfire Crisis Strategy, including equity, source water protection, community infrastructure, and wildlife corridors. Recognizing that insects, disease, and wildfire are among the most significant threats to mature and old growth forests, in alignment with the Administration, the Forest Service will be targeting hazardous fuels reduction projects to address these threats to promote the recruitment, protection and restoration of mature or old-growth forests.

Informational Handout:

Christmas Valley Airport, Christmas Valley, Oregon

RNAV (GPS)-A (New)

Takeoff Minimums and (Obstacle) Departure Procedure (New)

Project Background

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is proposing one new instrument approach procedure (IAP) and new Takeoff Minimums and (Obstacle) Departure Procedures (ODP), at Christmas Valley Airport (62S), Christmas Valley, Oregon.

Purpose of Changes

The proposal would change 62S from a visual flight rules (VFR) airport to an instrument flight rules (IFR) airport thereby improving access to the airport during inclement weather for emergency services aircraft in addition to other IFR capable aircraft.

Project Description

Area Navigation (RNAV) (Global Positioning System [GPS])-A

Aircraft would join the procedure from one of two directions:

- Northwest of the airport: Aircraft would join the procedure at POCIT initial approach fix (IAF) at or above (AOA) 9,500 feet (ft) mean sea level (MSL) and proceed southeast to WP3971* step down fix (SDF) AOA 8,000 ft MSL. Aircraft would then proceed to WP3332* intermediate fix (IF)/IAF AOA 7,700 ft MSL, thence...
- North of the airport: Aircraft would join the procedure at WP3332* IF/IAF AOA 7,700 ft MSL, thence...
- ...from WP3332* IF/IAF aircraft would proceed to WP3331* final approach fix (FAF) AOA 6,200 ft MSL. Aircraft would continue to the missed approach point (MAP), after which they would land at 62S or execute a missed approach.

*Indicates fix to be named at a later date.

ODP

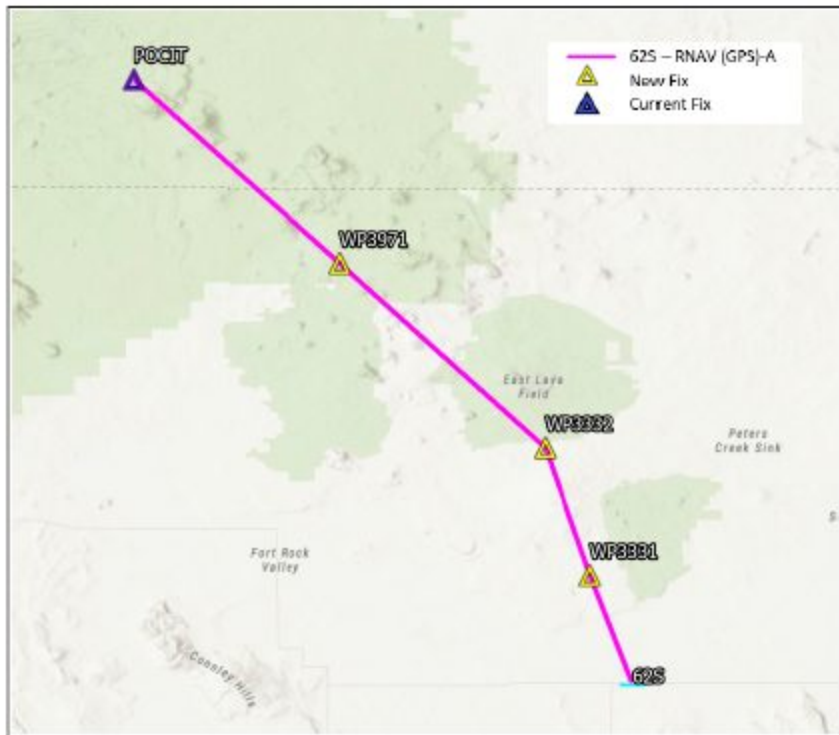

- Aircraft would depart Runway (RWY) 7 with a minimum climb gradient of 270 ft per nautical mile (NM) to 5,700 ft MSL.
- Aircraft would depart RWY 25 with a minimum climb gradient of 270 ft per NM to 6,800 ft MSL.

What will Change

The new IFR procedures would provide improved access to 62S to support emergency service operations in the region. The new approach procedure is depicted on the following page.
