This Is Why We Celebrate Presidents' Day

By: Claire Nowak

Newsflash: It isn't even technically called "Presidents' Day." Check your calendar. Odds are, the third Monday in February is listed as Presidents' Day, a holiday you may know (or assume) to recognize the accomplishments of all past U.S. presidents. However, the history behind this holiday is a lot more complicated than you might think. You'll also want to check out these astonishing facts you didn't know about U.S. presidents.

After George Washington died in 1799, his supporters began recognizing his birthday, February 22, as an annual day of remembrance for America's first president. (At least, those who used the Gregorian calendar did. The Julian calendar said he was born on Feb. 11. England switched over to the Gregorian style in 1752.) Washington's birthday became a federal holiday for the District of Columbia in 1879 and for the rest of the country in 1885. This was the first federal holiday that honored an individual. Then in 1968, Congress introduced the Uniform Monday Holiday Bill, which hoped to change certain federal holidays from specific dates to designated Mondays, creating more three-day weekends. (Talk about a policy everyone can get behind!) The idea was that more long weekends would make people less likely to skip work.

The bill also wanted to combine Washington and Abraham Lincoln's birthdays into one holiday (some states, like Illinois, already celebrated Lincoln's birthday, February 12). Illinois Senator Robert McClory proposed this holiday be called "Presidents' Day." In 1971, the bill passed, and President Richard Nixon issued an executive order that the third Monday in February was now a holiday.

Here's the thing though: According to the United States Code, that holiday is technically still called Washington's Birthday. The name never officially changed to Presidents' Day. But since federal code permits local governments and private businesses to name federal holidays whatever they want, most states call it Presidents' Day. Many stores also take advantage of this second name to promote February sales.

Two other commander-in-chiefs celebrated birthdays in February: William Henry Harrison (February 9) and Ronald Reagan (February 6).

Vacancy on KCC Board of Directors following resignation

KLAMATH FALLS — A vacated seat on the Klamath Community College Board of Directors will be open to candidates in the 2023 election following the recent resignation of District 7 Representative Jason Flowers.

In an announcement late last year, Flowers resigned his position due to new career opportunities that resulted in his family moving out of district. District 7 is an at-large position without geographic restriction as long as the candidate resides within the KCC service district – comprised of much of Klamath County and northern Lake County.

"I would like to thank Jason for his time on our board and all the groups of our community he was able to represent," said Kenneth DeCrans, KCC Board of Directors chair. "Jason was involved in many activities and parts of the community that helped him to speak well for the students he represented while on the KCC Board. His cheerfulness dedication and natural charisma will be greatly missed by myself the board and our community. We wish him well in all current and future endeavors."

The KCC Board of Directors chose not to appoint a temporary fill-in candidate at this time, recognizing the short timeline that person would serve if appointed before the next general election on May 16. Candidates may file for candidacy from Feb. 6 through March 16. Individuals interested in running for the vacant seat must file with the Klamath County Clerk's office by the March election deadline.

KCC Board of Directors members are volunteer positions serving four-year terms beginning July 1, with the goal of representing and guiding KCC in the core values of the college and community. The Board of Directors is comprised of seven elected members and one non-voting student representative. Board applicants must be a registered voter within the KCC service district. Klamath Community College Board of Education meetings are held on campus on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 6 p.m., unless otherwise noted. For more information visit www.klamathcc.edu or email the President's Office at PO@klamathcc.edu.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Several of the properties in the Christmas Valley township have utility easements for the Christmas Valley Water District.

When you have a utility easement on your property, the utility company/Water District may have a range of legal rights.

A few restrictions you might face include:

- Utility company/Water District access without your approval.
- Utility company/Water District may restrict your use of the easement when your use can harm underground water mains, valves, water meters, and the like.
- Restrictions on physical alterations: You may want to make an improvement to a certain section of your property. But the utility easement may prevent certain upgrades, such as erecting a fence or a gate.
- Vegetation restrictions: The utility company may require regular access to a particular area and constantly tear up your garden. Additionally, many utility easements limit the planting of major trees in a specified area.

If you're considering purchasing a property with a utility easement, take some time to research the local laws and regulations.

If you have questions regarding your utility easement call:
(541) 576-2090 or (541) 947-6921

Take Root Parenting Connection is one of the 16 Parenting Hubs in Oregon, which provides services to families in Douglas, Klamath, and Lake counties. Douglas County Education Service District (DESD) is their backbone agency; In Lake County, the Lake County School District houses the Take Root Parenting Connection office at Lakeview High School. In October 2021, they hired a new Lake County Early Learning Support Specialist who has been actively involved in spreading the word about Take Root and the services that are available to all of Lake County.

Since I, Bailey Guido, have been with Take Root, I have traveled throughout the county, meeting with community partners, schools, and residents explaining the services that Take Root and Kindergarten Readiness Partnership and Innovation offer. I have also participated in a wide range of community events and attended several community partner committees and meetings.

Take Root's services are free of charge and always give certificates of completion for classes as well as we almost always offer incentives for attending events. Some of the services Take Root offers are Parenting classes, series, and workshops like Creating Compassionate Kids, Taming the Tantrum, Growth Mindset, Cooking Matters, Safe at Home, Babies Don't Come with Instructions, Active Parenting for Blended Families, Active Parenting of Teens and Ready for K! Take Root also participates in fun family activities and community events like Facebook photo contests, family activity nights, Head Start parent's nights, Daly Days, Lake County School District Parent Teacher Conferences, holiday fairs, parades and trunk-or-treats. Some of the community meetings and committees I participate in are Take Root Advisory Meetings, The Early Learning Gathering Community Collaboration Meetings, The South-Central Early Meetings, The Lake County Food Share Board, Outback Strong Task Force, The United Community Action Network Meetings, The EOCCO CAC Meetings and more.

Recently Take Root was awarded The Eastern Oregon Coordinated Care Organization (EOCCO) Supporting Health for All through REinvestment (SHARE) Initiative grant of $30,000. One of the main goals to qualify for applying for this grant is to support social determinants of health. Take Root will be using this funding to expand services to Lake County by offering online events, and in-person events, hiring new facilitators and getting them trained as well as hiring childcare providers. We are excited to collaborate with several organizations that serve Lake County like the Lake County Public Health/WIC, South-Central Early Learning Hub, UCAN Healthy Families, Kindergarten Readiness Partnership and Innovation (KPI) and Lake County School District number 7.

Currently, Take Root has an event schedule that lists all events happening from January to March. There are several online events like Ready for K ages 2-3, 3-4, and 4-5, Co-Parenting for Life workshops, Advice for Preteen Parenting, The Challenge of Discipline and The Help That Helps. To sign up for these classes you can email bguido@desd.k12.or.us. If you want to join their newsletter email list, you can sign up for that here: <https://lp.constantcontactpages.com/su/z6DHmjn/TakeRoot>. Some upcoming events Take Root is working on are having Story Times at the Libraries, planning Lake County Baby Showers and holding a couple of in-person events like a Lunch and Learn and a Toddler Learning Day.

For anyone interested in learning more about Take Root Parenting Connection, participating in our events, or joining us as a facilitator, and or as a childcare provider please reach out! FROM THE COVER: The C-17 Globemaster III is the most flexible cargo aircraft to enter the airlift force. The C-17 is capable of rapid strategic delivery of troops and all types of cargo to main operating bases or directly to forward bases in the deployment area. The aircraft can perform tactical airlift and air-drop missions and can transport litters and ambulatory patients during aeromedical evacuations. The inherent flexibility and performance of the C-17 force improve the ability of the total airlift system to fulfill the worldwide air mobility requirements of the United States.

The ultimate measure of airlift effectiveness is the ability to rapidly project and sustain an effective combat force close to a potential battle area. Threats to U.S. interests have changed in recent years, and the size and weight of U.S.-mechanized firepower and equipment have grown in response to improved capabilities of potential adversaries. This trend has significantly increased air mobility requirements, particularly in the area of large or heavy out-size cargo. As a result, newer and more flexible airlift aircraft are needed to meet potential armed contingencies, peacekeeping or humanitarian missions worldwide. The C-17 is capable of meeting today's demanding airlift missions.

Aging and Disability
Resource Connection
— OF OREGON —
NO WRONG DOOR

The first contact to make for information and resources related to aging or living with a disability

What are ADRCs?

ADRCs provide information and services to seniors, people with disabilities, their families and caregivers regardless of income. With a statewide searchable database, consumers are able to access over 6,000 resources: www.ADRCoOfOregon.org. There is also a statewide toll free number:

1-855-ORE-ADRC (1-855-673-2372).

It is one name, one number, and one website to make it easier for Oregonians to find the information and help they need.

ADRC Core Services:

- Information, referral and awareness
- Options counseling and assistance
- Access to public and privately funded long-term care programs
- Prevention and early intervention

The ADRC for Lake County is the Klamath and Lake Counties Council on Aging.

New Forest Supervisor named for Fremont-Winema National Forest

LAKEVIEW, Ore., February 9, 2023— The Fremont-Winema National Forest has a new Forest Supervisor. Erik J. Fey was selected to lead the 2.3-million-acre forest in south-central Oregon by Pacific Northwest Regional Forester Glenn Casamassa.

Erik J. Fey joins the Forest Service from more than 20 years at the Department of Defense, where he most recently served as the chief of operations for the Defense Health Agency's Small Market and Stand-Alone Military Treatment Facility Organization at Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland in Texas.

Fey began his new position in Lakeview, Oregon, on Jan. 30, 2023. He replaces previous Forest Supervisor Barry Imler, who retired in September 2022.

"The leadership that Fey has demonstrated in building teams to solve complex, real-world problems in a fast-paced operational environment will be an important asset in his work on the Fremont-Winema National Forest," said Casamassa. "This forest is located amongst Oregon's rural communities, where thoughtful and strategic land use and conservation are critically important to preserving open space while supporting the region's rural economy."

Fey's experience includes military and civilian leadership positions to support safety and security measures, including through the COVID-19 response.

He began his public service career in 1991 in U.S. Air Force law enforcement and continued in security forces and information operations positions in the Air Force Reserve and Washington Air National Guard. In 2013, he served as deputy director of operational protection for the U.S. Army Africa directing day-to-day operations in Italy and in 53 nations on the African continent.

Fey's leadership experience includes directing several first-ever programs. In his role at the Small Market and Stand-Alone Organizations office at Defense Health Agency, he managed all non-medical operations for more than 140 military medical and dental treatment facilities and standalone clinical operations throughout the United States. During his time working in the Department of Defense, he also served in key operational leadership positions managing redeployments for U.S. Army Europe during Operation Iraqi Freedom; establishing a first-ever military intelligence and law enforcement fusion cell for U.S. Army North; and managing safety, security, and force health protection for U.S. Army personnel during Operation United Assistance—the military response to the 2014 Ebola outbreak in Africa. Fey has a Bachelor of Science in geography from Western Oregon University in 1998, a Master's of Science in environmental management from National University in 2000 and is working towards a Doctor of Management from Colorado Technical University.

"I'm excited for this next chapter of my career to serve Forest Service communities and partners," Fey said. "Important work includes addressing the Wildfire Crisis Strategy priority landscapes through restoration of the Klamath River Basin, partly on the Fremont-Winema National Forest. With my staff, we will seek science-based decision-making to foster healthy ecosystems and economies."

The Fremont-Winema National Forest consists of 2.3 million acres in south-central Oregon. The heavily timbered western portion of the forest is bordered by the Cascade Mountain Range and Crater Lake National Park and stretches east into the Klamath River Basin. To the north and east, stands of ponderosa and lodgepole pine grow on deep pumice and ash that blanketed the area during the eruption of Mt. Mazama (now Crater Lake). The eastern portion of the forest, offering expansive views, dramatic cliffs, and solitude, is known as Oregon's Outback providing opportunity to discover nature in a rustic environment.
