How to Properly Display the American Flag

As a symbol of the country and its people, the flag should be treated with respect and be honored when on display. In order to treat the flag with the dignity it deserves, the following display guidelines are recommended.

General Guidelines for Displaying the Flag:

- When the flag is hung vertically on a wall, window, or door, the Union (blue section) should be to the observer's left. When the flag is hung either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the Union should be to the observer's left.
- In a procession, the American flag should be to the right (the flag's own right) of any other flag or, if in a line of other flags, in front of the center of that line.
- When displayed from a staff projecting from a building, the union should be at the peak of the staff.
- When the flag is displayed otherwise than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out; or so suspended that its folds fall as freely as though the flag were staffed.
- When displayed over a street, the flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street, or to the east in a north and south street.
- On a platform, the flag should be above and behind the speaker, with the union uppermost and to the observer's left.
- When displayed from a staff in a church or auditorium, the flag should occupy the position of honor and be placed at the speaker's right as he faces the audience.
- When the flag is used to cover a casket, the union should be at the head and over the left shoulder.

Hoisting and Lowering the Flag:

- The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.
- When flown at half-staff, the flag should be first hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to half-staff position. It should again be raised to the peak before it is lowered for the day. Half-staff is one-half the distance between the top and bottom of the staff. The flag must be flown at half-staff on all buildings on the death of any officer listed below, for the period indicated:
- For the President or a former President: 30 days from the date of death.
- For the Vice President, the Chief Justice or a retired Chief Justice of the United States, or the Speaker of the House of Representatives: 10 days from the day of death.
- For an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, a member of the Cabinet, a former Vice President, the President pro tempore of the Senate, the Majority Leader of the House of Representatives, the Minority Leader of the House of Representatives: From the day of death until interment.

Flag Continued from Page 5.

- For a United States Senator, Representative, Delegate, or the Resident Commissioner from the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico: the flag should be flown in the metropolitan area of the District of Columbia, on the day of death and on the following day; in the state, congressional district, territory, or commonwealth of such Senator, Representative, Delegate, or Commissioner, from the day of death until interment.
- For a Governor: Within the state, territory, or possession, from the day of death until interment.

Displaying the American Flag on a Vehicle:

- The flag should not be displayed on a float except from a staff, nor draped over the hood, top, sides, or back of a vehicle.
- When the flag is displayed on a vehicle, the staff should be fixed firmly to the chassis.

Displaying the American Flag Alongside Other Flags:

- In the United States, no other flag should be placed above the American flag or, if they are to be placed on the same level, to the right of the American flag.
- The United Nations flag may not be displayed above or in a position of superior prominence to the United States flag except at United Nations Headquarters.
- The flag, when displayed with another against a wall—both from crossed staffs—should be on the right (the flag's own right), and its staff should be in front of the other staff.
- The American flag should be at the center and the highest point when displayed with a group of state flags.
- When flags of states, cities, etc., are flown on the same halyard, the American flag should be at the peak.
- When flags of two or more nations are displayed, they are to be flown from separate staffs of the same height, and the American flag should be hoisted first and lowered last.

How Not to Display the American Flag

The flag and its likeness should be treated with respect. Its image should not be cheapened or tarnished by improper use.

- The flag should not be dipped to any person or thing, including government officials—even the President.
- The flag should never be displayed with the union (stars) down, unless as a signal of dire distress.
- The flag should never touch anything beneath it, such as the ground, the floor, water, or merchandise.
- The flag should never be carried flat or horizontally, but always aloft and free.
- The flag should never be fastened, displayed, used, or stored so that it might be easily torn, soiled, or damaged in any way.
- The flag should never be used as covering for a ceiling.
- The flag should never have anything placed on it.
- The flag should never be used for any advertising purpose, nor embroidered on cushions or handkerchiefs, printed on paper napkins or boxes, nor used as any portion of a costume.

How to Properly Dispose of an American Flag

- If the U.S. flag does touch the ground, it does not need to be disposed of. This is a myth. Just ensure the flag is washed or dry cleaned.
- However, when the flag is in torn or in a condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem, it should be destroyed in a dignified and ceremonious fashion, preferably by burning.
- Most American Legion posts will conduct an annual ceremony, often on Flag Day (June 14) to retire old or worn flags; contact your local chapter if you are not able to dispose of the flag yourself.
- You could also ask your local Boy Scouts or Girl Scouts troops about retiring your flag.

A TRIBUTE TO FATHER'S FOR FATHER'S DAY

For the young son, Dad stands for all he wants to be in life "when he grows up". He watches with eyes and ears that record how Dad lives, whether it be in the home, on the job, or in their time of recreation as a family. This recording takes place on a daily basis in his life, as one day he will push "play", and become a Dad himself.

For the young daughter, Dad is her knight in shining armor with the responsibility to protect her, yet tender enough to shower her with his unconditional love when she needs to know he's there. For her, Dad remains "Daddy" through the turbulent years of teenage trials, then with a falling tear and trembling lips she kisses "Daddy" on the cheek at her wedding in hopes she is marrying someone who will love and protect her "just like Daddy did".

Some Dads have become the leaders of their family without a Godly example in their home as they grew up, yet have determined in their own hearts to start a legacy of love so their own children will have a good example to follow. Like Joshua of old challenged the people in Joshua 24:15b, he states these words, then does all he can to live up to the commitment: "But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

The Godly Father recognizes his own shortcomings and failures from time to time as he shepherds his family, and will be humble enough to draw upon the strength of his Heavenly Father for help and guidance. 2 Corinthians 12:9a "My grace is sufficient for you, for My strength is made perfect in weakness." The Godly Father is not ashamed to admit to times of weakness and insufficiency, and yes, even shed a tear or two at times as he faces the challenges of life and leadership of his family. He looks forward to looking up to God and confessing his need to the one who is all-sufficient and all-knowing.

We applaud you Dad, as you sacrifice for your family in so many ways, yet also encourage you to give your most valuable asset to your Children as much as possible which is of course, your time. Those special times of playing catch in the back yard may provide some wear and tear for the lawn, yet will grow a great relationship. Those early mornings of fishing together may not yield much for the dinner table, but the conversations while fishing will be quite a catch for both Dad and Child. Taking time for a "date with your daughter" will provide her an example of what to look for in manners and actions when she begins to date.

There is a statement that says "time is of the essence", and this is indeed the case when Dads and Kids interact.

Thank you for working, planning, caring, disciplining, teaching, and yes, learning about being the best Dad you can possibly be. It is never too late to improve on your Dad skills. In a world that says "can't", thanks for saying "can too!"

Most of all, thanks for being "Dad" and trusting your Heavenly Father to guide you in the journey.

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY!

North Lake High School Commencement of 2023

Saturday morning June 3rd

by June Pettit

There were lots of tears of relief, excitement and goodbyes in the School gym Saturday morning. Mark Williams played "Pomp and Circumstance" as the 2023 graduating seniors walked to up to the stage to begin their final ceremony. After listening to the trumpet solo of the National Anthem played by Mark Williams, we all sat down and listened to Superintendent Gail Buermann welcome everyone and introduce the Slide show. The Slide show was very well put together, we could hear lots of giggles, snickers and "That's....." everyone seemed to enjoy watching the students grow up before our eyes.

Luke Paolone gave his Valedictorian speech, highlighting that this class has learn to adapt to many changes in their 4 years of high school including distance learning, having to wear masks all day once allowed back to school and learn that dreaded 6' rule, and lots of sanitizer. Dani Bates, as Student Body President gave a wonderful speech drawing us all into her experiences of growing up at North Lake School, Mr Clark Simons introduced the Seniors to collect their diplomas from School Board Member Dwight Roth. It was exciting to see the students cross the stage shake hands with Principal Cameron Mitchem and the rest of the Presenters on stage and cross to move their tassels, signifying they have graduated high school. As the classmates walked across the gym to the recessional, they gather in the back to toss their caps in the air, a very joyous scene.

The Graduating class was comprised of:

Dani Bates; Edward Brown; Corbin Coulter; Stephen Griffen; Tyla Haigh (Valedictorian); Hannah Maielua; Kristie Milner; Luke Paolone (Valedictorian) Julie Roth; Jadon Triebre; Scott Wagner; Crystal "Ozzie" Whitmore and Trevor Williams.

It was the best of times, it was the worst of times...

The twelve years that began in the fall of 2011—seems like yesterday, doesn't it?—have finally come to a bittersweet end with the graduation of the Class of 2023.

From first grade on, June was greeted with glee and unfettered excitement. The last day of each grade meant three months of freedom and fun, trips to the beach, picnics, sleeping in, and just hanging out with friends. And friends were plenty, familiar faces we would see again in the rapidly approaching month of September when we started the next grade afresh. We'd gained a year in age, but when you're nine or thirteen or sixteen, what's one year?

The buildup to graduation was slow as the years ticked by, sometimes excruciatingly so. But as we became sophomores and then juniors, we were struck by the realization that the Finish Line was inching closer. Some had already begun making plans for college, some had careers in mind, and some weren't sure what they'd do when the final bell rang and the principal handed out that sought-after diploma.

The best of times certainly are our newfound freedoms, not having to set an alarm clock and race off to school, no worries of late homework or cramming for mid-terms, the turning of a page in life. But the worst of times? We've become adults. We're eighteen now, legally responsible for our own choices. All of them, the two-edged sword of freedom. And the dwindling number of friends as our circle shrinks to a precious few, people we will scarcely see, and in some cases, never see again.

Our class song, nearly fifty years ago, was by Seals and Crofts. Perhaps you've heard it: We May Never Pass This Way Again, from 1974, when I exited through the high school doors for the final time. And, inexorably, friends moved away, started families, began careers, and my circle of friends began its inevitable decline.

But the best friends remained, and new friendships formed for me, as they will undoubtedly for you. For the seniors who just completed high school and are moving ahead with their lives, may this be the beginning of the very best of times!

I'll leave you with the words of an old Irish blessing:

*May God give you for every storm, a rainbow, for every tear, a smile, for every care, a promise, and a blessing in each trial.
For every problem life sends, a faithful friend to share,
For every sigh, a sweet song, and an answer for each prayer.*
