Mother's Day ~ Honoring our Mothers

The origins of Mother's Day as celebrated in the United States date back to the 19th century. In the years before the Civil War, Ann Reeves Jarvis of West Virginia helped start "Mothers' Day Work Clubs" to teach local women how to properly care for their children.

These clubs later became a unifying force in a region of the country still divided over the Civil War. In 1868 Jarvis organized "Mothers' Friendship Day," at which mothers gathered with former Union and Confederate soldiers to promote reconciliation.

Another precursor to Mother's Day came from the abolitionist and suffragette Julia Ward Howe. In 1870 Howe wrote the "Mother's Day Proclamation," a call to action that asked mothers to unite in promoting world peace. In 1873 Howe campaigned for a "Mother's Peace Day" to be celebrated every June 2.

Other early Mother's Day pioneers include Juliet Calhoun Blakely, a temperance activist who inspired a local Mother's Day in Albion, Michigan, in the 1870s. The duo of Mary Towles Sasseen and Frank Hering, meanwhile, both worked to organize a Mothers' Day in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Some have even called Hering "the father of Mothers' Day."

The official Mother's Day holiday arose in the 1900s as a result of the efforts of Anna Jarvis, daughter of Ann Reeves Jarvis. Following her mother's 1905 death, Anna Jarvis conceived of Mother's Day as a way of honoring the sacrifices mothers made for their children.

After gaining financial backing from a Philadelphia department store owner named John Wanamaker, in May 1908 she organized the first official Mother's Day celebration at a Methodist church in Grafton, West Virginia. That same day also saw thousands of people attend a Mother's Day event at one of Wanamaker's retail stores in Philadelphia.

Following the success of her first Mother's Day, Jarvis—who remained unmarried and childless her whole life—resolved to see her holiday added to the national calendar. Arguing that American holidays were biased toward male achievements, she started a massive letter writing campaign to newspapers and prominent politicians urging the adoption of a special day honoring motherhood.

By 1912 many states, towns and churches had adopted Mother's Day as an annual holiday, and Jarvis had established the Mother's Day International Association to help promote her cause. Her persistence paid off in 1914 when President Woodrow Wilson signed a measure officially establishing the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

Anna Jarvis had originally conceived of Mother's Day as a day of personal celebration between mothers and families. Her version of the day involved wearing a white carnation as a badge and visiting one's mother or attending church services. But once Mother's Day became a national holiday, it was not long before florists, card companies and other merchants capitalized on its popularity.

While Jarvis had initially worked with the floral industry to help raise Mother's Day's profile, by 1920 she had become disgusted with how the holiday had been commercialized. She outwardly denounced the transformation and urged people to stop buying Mother's Day flowers, cards and candies.

Jarvis eventually resorted to an open campaign against Mother's Day profiteers, speaking out against confectioners, florists and even charities. She also launched countless lawsuits against groups that had used the name "Mother's Day," eventually spending most of her personal wealth in legal fees. By the time of her death in 1948 Jarvis had disowned the holiday altogether, and even actively lobbied the government to see it removed from the American calendar.

RE-ELECT BARRY SHULLANBERGER

COUNTY COMMISSIONER, POSITION 1

Hello, my name is Barry Shullanberger and I am running for re-election as Lake County Commissioner. Now entering my fourth year as your commissioner, I am very humbled and honored to serve the people of Lake County. I enjoy coming to work every day to help solve issues, fight for values that are consistent with our hard-working constituents and striving to improve our economy. I am also advocating for long term solutions that will protect Lake County from being overrun by unnecessary rules and regulations.

Many natural resource issues have confronted Lake County over the last few years: wildfire, drought which has led to weed infestations, water rights issues, and "best" practices on federal lands. Currently a member of the Partnership for Lake Abert and the Chewaucan, I am supporting our local landowners; I also hope to help others better understand how the Chewaucan water system currently works for both landowners and wildlife habitat who utilize the water in many ways and different times of the year. To balance our ecosystems to optimum condition includes reforestation of our national forests and protection of the water that comes from the mountains...necessary water that ensures successful crops for our farmers and ranchers. This will take time and concentrated, continual efforts from every one of us.

I am also an active participant on the Tri-Corner Collaborative which is primarily focused on the land between Hart Mountain and Sheldon National Wildlife Refuges. This collaborative is working hard to continue multiple use on federal and private lands, while sustaining one of the largest in tact sage steppe ecosystems and identifying ways to protect the landscape from juniper encroachment and annual grass invasions. I am excited to be part of this process and I enjoy working with local ranchers and partners to improve rangeland health.

In North Lake County, I continue to be an active participant with the Hay Grower's Association listening to current issues facing landowners and providing support where needed. As Commissioner, I have recently supported two Community Development Block Grants (CDBG) that will help continue improving the infrastructure of the Christmas Valley water system and the other is to find a new permanent location for a Library. These CDBG's are 100% grants coming from the state through Business Oregon. These grants help return state tax dollars to Lake County by way of providing important infrastructure and community needs.

I am actively working on many other projects and committees including code enforcement plans, 911 committee, wolf issues which the County recently received funding for non-lethal actions to deter wolves from livestock herds, museum board, air quality, Lake County Fire Defense Board, chair of the South-Central Oregon Area Commission on Transportation, and an active member of the South-Central Oregon Economic Development District to name a few. I hope to continue representing Lake County in the next four years as I assimilate new ideas, meet, and work with diverse constituents, and continue to work hard for Lake County. I would appreciate your vote.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Several of the properties in the Christmas Valley township have utility easements for the Christmas Valley Water District.

When you have a utility easement on your property, the utility company/Water District may have a range of legal rights.

A few restrictions you might face include:

- Utility company/Water
- District access without your approval.
- Utility company/Water
- District may restrict your use of the easement when your use can harm underground water mains, valves, water meters, and the like.
- Restrictions on physical alterations: You may want to make an improvement to a certain section of your property. But the utility easement may prevent certain upgrades, such as erecting a fence or a gate.
- Vegetation restrictions: The utility company may require regular access to a particular area and constantly tear up your garden. Additionally, many utility easements limit the planting of major trees in a specified area.

If you're considering purchasing a property with a utility easement, take some time to research the local laws and regulations.

If you have questions regarding your utility easement call:

(541) 576-2090 or (541) 947-6921

BLM to hold public meetings on greater sage-grouse land use plan amendments

LAKEVIEW, Ore. - The Bureau of Land Management manages the largest single share of sage grouse habitat in the United States—nearly 67 million acres of 145 million total acres. The draft plan offers a range of alternatives for sustainable management of these lands. Balancing a consistent management approach across the range while addressing conditions and policies unique to individual states, BLM will be able to work more effectively with state and local managers to protect and improve sagebrush habitats on public lands.

The draft environmental impact statement and plan amendment is open for public comment. The comment period will end on June 13, 2024. For more information on how to comment on this draft visit <https://www.blm.gov/sagegrouse>. A final environmental impact statement is expected this fall, followed by Records of Decision in each state.

BIG PACK BIG QUALITY

FINANCING FOR 60 MONTHS

on the BIG Pack
and BaleCollect

The BIG Pack packs more weight into every bale, creating rock-hard bales that keep their shape, achieving higher densities.

TWINE BOX

The twine box comes equipped with plenty of storage and protection from debris. The box can conveniently be folded down hydraulically from the cab for easy refill, greater convenience, and access to service points.

THE KNOTTERS

The system consists of eight very slim double v-knotters, that produce no tail ends. Instead of cutting the tails off, the knotters form the tail into a loop that pulls into the starter knot, creating a stronger knot.
