History of Labor Day : What it Means

- the U.S. Department of Labor

Labor Day Legislation

The first governmental recognition came through municipal ordinances passed in 1885 and 1886. From these, a movement developed to secure state legislation. The first state bill was introduced into the New York legislature, but the first to become law was passed by Oregon on February 21, 1887. During 1887, four more states - Colorado, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and New York - created the Labor Day holiday by legislative enactment. By the end of the decade Connecticut, Nebraska, and Pennsylvania had followed suit. By 1894, 23 more states had adopted the holiday, and on June 28, 1894, Congress passed an act making the first Monday in September of each year a legal holiday in the District of Columbia and the territories.

Founder of Labor Day

More than a century after the first Labor Day observance, there is still some doubt as to who first proposed the holiday for workers. Some records show that Peter J. McGuire, general secretary of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and a co-founder of the American Federation of Labor, was first in suggesting a day to honor those "who from rude nature have delved and carved all the grandeur we behold."

Labor Day, the first Monday in September, is a creation of the labor movement and is dedicated to the social and economic achievements of American workers. It constitutes a yearly national tribute to the contributions workers have made to the strength, prosperity, and well-being of our country.

The first state bill was passed by Oregon.

But Peter McGuire's place in Labor Day history has not gone unchallenged. Many believe that Matthew Maguire, a machinist, not Peter McGuire, founded the holiday. Recent research seems to support the contention that Matthew Maguire, later the secretary of Local 344 of the International Association of Machinists in Paterson, N.J., proposed the holiday in 1882 while serving as secretary of the Central Labor Union in New York. What is clear is that the Central Labor Union adopted a Labor Day proposal and appointed a committee to plan a demonstration and picnic.

The First Labor Day

The first Labor Day holiday was celebrated on Tuesday, September 5, 1882, in New York City, in accordance with the plans of the Central Labor Union. The Central Labor Union held its second Labor Day holiday just a year later, on September 5, 1883. By 1894, 23 more states had adopted the holiday, and on June 28, 1894, President Grover Cleveland signed a law making the first Monday in September of each year a national holiday.

A Nationwide Holiday

The form that the observance and celebration of Labor Day should take was outlined in the first proposal of the holiday - a street parade to exhibit to the public "the strength and esprit de corps of the trade and labor organizations" of the community, followed by a festival for the recreation and amusement of the workers and their families. This became the pattern for the celebrations of Labor Day. Speeches by prominent men and women were introduced later, as more emphasis was placed upon the economic and civic significance of the holiday. Still later, by a resolution of the American Federation of Labor convention of 1909, the Sunday preceding Labor Day was adopted as Labor Sunday and dedicated to the spiritual and educational aspects of the labor movement. The character of the Labor Day celebration has changed in recent years, especially in large industrial centers where mass displays and huge parades have proved a problem. This change, however, is more a shift in emphasis and medium of expression. Labor Day addresses by leading union officials, industrialists, educators, clerics, and government officials are given wide coverage in newspapers, radio, and television. The vital force of labor added materially to the highest standard of living and the greatest production the world has ever known and has brought us closer to the realization of our traditional ideals of economic and political democracy. It is appropriate, therefore, that the nation pays tribute on Labor Day to the creator of so much of the nation's strength, freedom, and leadership — the American worker.

Labor Daze - Pride, Chaos and Kegs on Labor's First 'Day'

On the morning of September 5, 1882, a crowd of spectators filled the sidewalks of lower Manhattan near city hall and along Broadway. They had come early, well before the Labor Day parade marchers, to claim the best vantage points from which to view the first Labor Day parade. A newspaper account of the day described "...men on horseback, men wearing regalia, men with society aprons, and men with flags, musical instruments, badges, and all the other paraphernalia of a procession." The police, wary that a riot would break out, were out in force that morning as well. By 9 a.m., columns of police and club-wielding officers on horseback surrounded city hall.

By 10 a.m., the Grand Marshall of the parade, William McCabe, his aides and their police escort were all in place for the start of the parade. There was only one problem: none of the men had moved. The few marchers that had shown up had no music. According to McCabe, the spectators began to suggest that he give up the idea of parading, but he was determined to start on time with the few marchers that had shown up. Suddenly, Mathew Maguire of the Central Labor Union of New York (and probably the father of Labor Day) ran across the lawn and told McCabe that two hundred marchers from the Jewelers Union of Newark Two had just crossed the ferry — and they had a band!

Just after 10 a.m., the marching jewelers turned onto lower Broadway — they were playing "When I First Put This Uniform On," from Patience, an opera by Gilbert and Sullivan. The police escort then took its place in the street. When the jewelers marched past McCabe and his aides, they followed in behind. Then, spectators began to join the march. Eventually, there were 700 men in line in the first of three divisions of Labor Day marchers. Final reports of the total number of marchers ranged from 10,000 to 20,000 men and women.

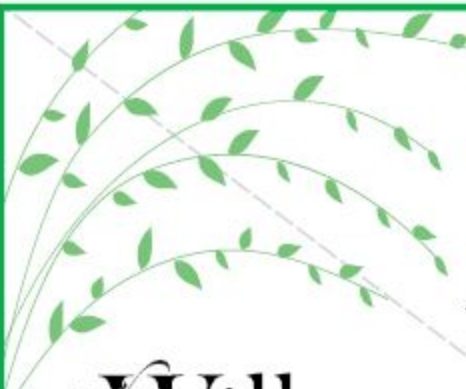

With all of the pieces in place, the parade marched through lower Manhattan. The New York Tribune reported that: "The windows and roofs and even the lamp posts and awning frames were occupied by persons anxious to get a good view of the first parade in New York of workingmen of all trades united in one organization."

At noon, the marchers arrived at Reservoir Park, the termination point of the parade. While some returned to work, most continued on to the post-parade party at Wendel's Elm Park at 92nd Street and Ninth Avenue; even some unions that had not participated in the parade showed up to join in the post-parade festivities that included speeches, a picnic, an abundance of cigars, and "Lager beer kegs... mounted in every conceivable place." From 1 p.m. until 9 p.m. that night, nearly 25,000 union members and their families filled the park and celebrated the very first, and almost entirely disastrous, Labor Day Celebration.

Wildfire damage forces parts of Hart Mountain National Antelope Refuge to remain closed

LAKEVIEW, Ore. – The Warner Peak Fire is now 100% contained, but over 82,000 acres of Hart Mountain National Antelope Refuge will remain closed through June 15, 2025, due to the extensive wildfire damage and the potential threat of invasive species.

On Aug. 5, a lightning strike started the fire that quickly spread to over 65,000 acres – nearly 24% of the refuge. Both Post Meadows and Hot Springs campgrounds had significant damage, especially in the riparian areas and surrounding seasonal roads.

Warner Pond will be closed, as well as several roads: Blue Sky; Barnhardy; Skyline Drive; Martin Canyon; South Boundary; and Hart Lake Road.

Beginning Sept. 2, visitors will have access to 186,000 acres of the refuge, including Hart Mountain Road, Frenchglen Road, Camp Hart Mountain Campground, Shirk Road, Flook Lake Road, and Poker Jim Ridge. Before visiting, please clean vehicles to prevent invasive weeds from entering the refuge, which affects sagebrush rehabilitation.

"Refuge staff are incredibly grateful for the over 500 fire fighters, staff, and partners who helped contain the wildfire," said Shannon Ludwig, project leader for Sheldon-Hart Mountain National Wildlife Refuge. "We are also grateful to our community for their support of the fire efforts and patience as we repair roads, campgrounds, and other infrastructure and wildlife habitat damaged in the fire."

The Service will work with partners to assess the burned areas and develop a rehabilitation plan that balances the needs of wildlife, habitat, and public recreational opportunities. The 278,630 acre Hart Mountain National Antelope Refuge was established in 1936 to protect habitat for remnant pronghorn herds. Subsequently, the refuge was mandated with providing habitat for other wildlife, including big-horn sheep, mule deer, sage grouse, coyotes, bobcats, and over 200 species of migratory birds.

If you have any questions about the temporary closure of portions of the refuge, please refer to <https://www.fws.gov/refuge/hart-mountain-national-antelope>, email staff at Sheldon-Hart@fws.gov, or call the Refuge at 541-947-2731. For in person or mail inquiries, the address is Sheldon-Hart Mountain National Wildlife Refuge Complex at 20995 Rabbit Hill Road, PO Box 111, Lakeview OR 97630 from 8am-4pm Monday-Friday.

If you have questions about how this closure may affect hunt seasons in Hart Mountain NAR, please contact Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife at 541-883-5732

Christmas Valley Park and Recreation District

invites everyone to enjoy the Park and Rec properties.

We ask that while enjoying the properties; specifically,
the Golf Course, the Rodeo Grounds, the playground, the multi-use field and Baert Lake, that you be a good steward and please do not litter, please maintain control of your pets
by keeping dogs on a leash and/or maintaining constant supervision. If your dog should defecate on the premises, please be sure to pick up after it.

Horses and camping are only permitted at the Rodeo Grounds.

Being good stewards and taking pride in these properties reflects on our community as a whole.

Thank you for your continued support of Christmas Valley Park and Recreation District.

BLM Southeast Oregon Resource Advisory Council Announces September Meeting Date

LAKEVIEW, Ore. — The Bureau of Land Management's Southeast Oregon Resource Advisory Council (RAC) will meet in person on Tuesday Sept. 24, and Wednesday, Sept. 25, 2024. The public is welcome to attend both meetings. The meetings will be held at the BLM Burns District Office, 28910 Highway 20 West, Hines, Oregon, 97738. A virtual participation option will also be available, and participation instructions will be posted to the Southeast Oregon RAC's webpage in advance of the meeting.

"The Southeast Oregon RAC members are a critical part of the land management process," Todd Forbes, Lakeview District Manager said. "Members provide a link to communities by sharing their diverse perspectives that help inform BLM activities throughout the State."

Advisory councils consist of up to 15 members representing diverse interests in the local community. The Southeast Oregon RAC provides advice and recommendations to the Secretary of the Interior on public land resource and management issues in the Vale, Burns, and Lakeview BLM Districts and the Fremont-Winema and Malheur National Forests.

Agenda topics include District updates, an update on the Lakeview Resource Management Plan Amendment, and presentations on the Public Lands Rule and BLM Blueprint for Recreation.

A half-hour comment period, during which the public may address the RAC, will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 24 and 9:45 a.m. Depending on the number of people wishing to comment and the time available, the amount of time for individual oral comments may be limited.

For more information about the Southeast Oregon RAC meetings, please contact Lisa McNee at lmcnee@blm.gov or (541) 219-9180.

National Voter Registration Day is September 17th

National Voter Registration Day is Tuesday, September 17. Lake County encourages all eligible voters to ensure they are registered to vote in the upcoming General Election that will be held on Tuesday, November 5, and if you aren't already registered, be sure to do so before the voter registration deadline, which is Friday, October 11.

Am I Registered?

You can check your voter registration status using <https://sos.oregon.gov/voting/Pages/registration.aspx?lang=en> and click on "My Vote."

Voter Registration Requirements:

To register to vote in Oregon, you must be:

- A U.S. citizen
- A resident of Oregon
- At least 16 years old

If you are not yet 18 years of age, you will not receive a ballot until an election occurs on or after your 18th birthday.

How to Register to Vote in Oregon:

To register on line go to: <https://sos.oregon.gov/voting/Pages/registration.aspx?lang=en>
To register to vote online you will need an Oregon driver license, permit or ID card number issued by the Oregon Driver and Motor Vehicle Services Division (DMV).

If you do not have an Oregon driver license, permit or ID card, you can still use the online voter registration application. The information you enter will display on a voter registration card (PDF document) that you will need to print, sign and deliver to your county elections office to complete your registration. Instead of registering to vote online you can complete a Voter Registration form and return it to your county clerks or elections office.

Voter Registration Deadline:

The voter registration deadline for the 2024 General Election is 5 p.m. on Friday, October 11, 2024. If you miss the registration deadline, you may be eligible to register and vote or make changes to your voter registration—with the exception of changing your party affiliation—during the early voting period that begins on Thursday, October 17.

2024 General Election:

The 2024 General Election on Tuesday, November 5, will include several local, state and federal contests. For more information—including early voting dates and locations, candidate information, sample ballots, current photo I.D. requirements and how to find your polling location—please contact the Lake County Clerks Office, 513 Center Street, Lakeview, OR 97630 Phone: 541-947-6006
