Embracing the New Year: A Time for Reflection and Renewal

As the final days of the year dwindle, a sense of anticipation begins to build. The approaching New Year isn't just a calendar change; it's a profound human tradition, a moment woven into the fabric of cultures worldwide, signaling a time for both reflection on the past and hopeful anticipation for the future.

For many, the New Year serves as a natural pause button. It's an opportunity to look back at the journey of the past twelve months – the triumphs, the challenges, the lessons learned, and the growth experienced. This process of reflection isn't about dwelling on regrets but rather about appreciating the path traveled and understanding how it has shaped us. It's about recognizing the resilience we've shown and the progress, no matter how small, that we've made.

But the New Year is also, famously, a springboard for renewal. It's the season of resolutions, of setting intentions, and of envisioning a better version of ourselves and our lives. From committing to healthier habits to pursuing long-held dreams, the turning of the year inspires us to make positive changes. While resolutions can sometimes feel daunting, their true power lies in the act of hopeful planning and the belief in our capacity for improvement. It's an annual reminder that every day offers a chance to start anew.

Beyond personal goals, the New Year is a time for connection. It's when families and friends gather, sharing laughter, stories, and well wishes. It's a period for strengthening bonds, expressing gratitude for those in our lives, and looking forward to making new memories together. The collective spirit of celebration, from grand fireworks displays to quiet, heartfelt toasts, unites us in a shared sense of optimism.

So, as we bid farewell to the old and welcome the new, let us embrace this unique time. Let us reflect with grace, plan with optimism, and celebrate with joy. May the coming year bring renewed hope, fresh opportunities, and countless reasons to smile.

Happy New Year!

High Desert Horizon: What's Ahead for Christmas Valley Producers

As we turn the calendar, Christmas Valley producers are staring down a year that looks as unpredictable as a January blizzard—but the math is starting to lean in favor of the rancher. With the national cattle herd at its lowest point in decades, 2026 is shaping up to be a “seller’s year,” provided the overhead doesn’t eat the profit.

The Cattle Market: High Stakes, High Prices

We are seeing record-breaking numbers at the sale barns. Feeder cattle futures for early 2026 are hovering in the $330–$345/cwt range. For local cow-calf operations, this means that those 500-lb calves are bringing in serious checks, often north of $3.50 per pound if they’ve got the right genetics and health records.

The Big Picture: Supply is tight. Nationally, heifer retention is still slow, meaning we won’t see a “flood” of new beef anytime soon. If you can keep your cows bred and your calves healthy, the market is yours to lose.

Inputs & Fuel

While calf prices are up, the cost of doing business isn’t making it easy.

- Fuel: Farm diesel has been hovering around $3.30–$3.80 per gallon in the Northwest. It’s a far cry from the “good old days,” but it has stabilized enough to make budgeting possible.
- Fertilizer: Potash and Nitrogen prices saw a bump in late 2025. Expect to pay around $850–$920 per ton for Urea and MAP as we head into the spring planting season.

Weather: Watching the La Niña

The big “if” for Christmas Valley is the weather. Forecasters are calling for a La Niña pattern through the winter. For us, that usually means a toss-up, but it often trends toward colder-than-normal temps for Northwest Oregon. The snowpack in the hills will be the deciding factor for our summer water allotments and the price of local alfalfa.

Final Word

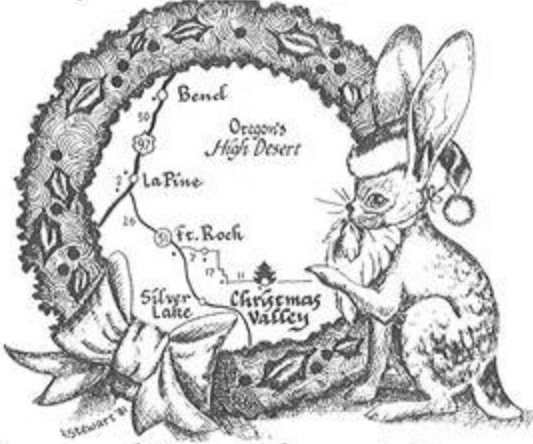

Ranching in the high desert isn’t for the faint of heart. But with beef demand high and prices holding strong, 2026 offers a real opportunity to make up for some lean years. Keep your equipment greased and your eyes on the auction ticker. Sidebar: Market Watch (Late Dec 2025)

Category	Est. Price Range
Feeder Steers (500-600 lbs)	$335 - $380 /cwt
Slaughter Cows (High Yielding)	$135 - $168 /cwt
Farm Diesel (Local Avg)	$3.69 /gal
Urea Fertilizer (46-0-0)	$815 - $925 /ton
Bred Cows (Avg)	$1,850 - $2,100 /hd

Volume

The next report will be published January 15th, 2026.

Compared to the last report, Movement has increased but demand is still slow, producers are saying it has been slower than normal with even the demand for small bales being slow. No new buyers seem to be looking around for hay at the moment. There hasn't been winter weather roll in yet so cattle are still grazing and small bale buyers have stocked up for a while. There is hope that when winter storms roll in demand will pick up.

According to the U.S. Drought Monitor, severe to extreme drought indicated in northeast Oregon where the south and central areas are being labelled as having abnormally dry to no drought indication.

CHRISTMAS VALLEY COMMUNITY HALL

JANUARY 8TH & 22ND

STARTS AT 5:30PM

To Our Valued Community: Important Policy Update

Effective January 1, 2026, Christmas Valley Park & Recreation District will implement a revised Community Hall Usage Agreement.

This update is being introduced to resolve recent scheduling conflicts and streamline the Community Hall reservation process. Our goal is to decrease confusion and ensure fairness and equitable access for all renters. The current reservation schedule will be wiped clean, and we will begin a new, empty schedule effective January 1, 2026.

All renters, regardless of previous agreements, terms, or renter status (including those utilizing free rentals for community events), are required to comply with the revised process.

Requirements for ALL RENTERS:

Date Confirmation Period: To confirm a reserved rental date, renters must notify the district office at the beginning of the month of the rental. The confirmation period is from the first (1st) through the fifth (5th) day of the month. You can drop a note in the drop box with your name, rental date, and confirmation,

- » Failure to reconfirm by 2:00 p.m. on the fifth (5th) of the month will result in the forfeiture of a portion of the required deposit for loss of profit. The reserved date will then be released to prospective renters, and the original renter will receive a formal letter of cancellation.

Finalization Requirements: A date CANNOT be reserved and finalized until the district has received the following documents on file:

- » A signed copy of the NEW Rental Agreement.
- » The required reservation deposit ($50.00).

We appreciate your cooperation as we implement these changes to maintain an efficient and equitable system for community hall use.
